Henderson Tells M.P.'s U.S. and Other Ministers Communicate With Britain

Dr. Wu Lays China's Arguments Before League Secretary at Geneva

London, Nov. 27.—Great Britain is prepared to participate with other powers in joint action to bring the Russo-Chinese dispute in Manchuria to a peaceful termination, if such action proves possible.

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson made this reply to a question in the House of Commons to-day. He said he would consider whether Great Britain should take the initiative with the other powers.

Mr. Henderson told Sir Austen Chamberlain, his Conservative predecessor at the Foreign Office, that communications had passed between British and United States Governments with reference to the possibility of joint action in Manchuria. The question had been discussed in the early days of November.

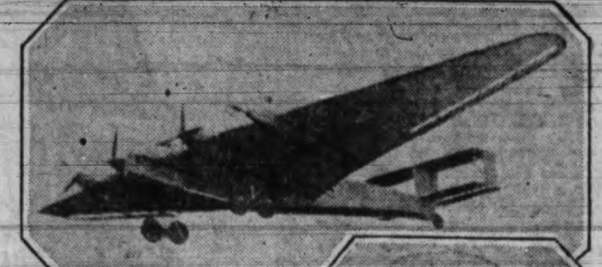

"I think that since then no further communication has been received," said Mr. Henderson. "But I think a communication has come through a telegram from another government, and if joint action can be taken we are prepared to participate."

CONSIDERED BY OFFICIALS

Mr. Henderson said the British foreign office this morning had discussed whether Great Britain should open further communications with the United States Government.

"Flying Wing" Is Largest Land Plane

The picture above was taken during the first flight of the world's largest land aeroplane, the Junkers G-38. It is being tested at Bressau, Germany, by Pilot Zimmermann, right, factory expert. A new development in aviation, the G-38, is practically a single "flying wing," for while the fuselage is very small, four motors, passenger quarters and storage space are built into the thick wing, which has a spread of 137 feet.

Tolmie's Remarks Make B.C. People Feel Very Cheap

Ottawa Reply To Currie Is Now Awaited

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, declined to-day to comment on the communication of General Sir Arthur Currie, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, attacking the entire Canadian pension regulations.

Sir Arthur's message was read yesterday at the annual convention of the Canadian Legion now in progress in Regina.

It is possible an official statement will be issued later on Sir Arthur's remarks.

DUNNING IS IN NEW CABINET

Directs Federal Finance Department After Taking Oath Last Night

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—When the Government offices here opened for business this morning, Hon. Charles A. Dunning was in full charge of the Federal Department of Finance, having been sworn in as Minister before the Governor-General at 3 o'clock last night.

It was not necessary for the officials to be introduced to the new head of their department, as Mr. Dunning had been directing its operations since the illness overtook Hon. James A. Robb, which ended in his death November 11 in Toronto.

With the 1929 session of Parliament slated to begin late in January or early in February, the Finance Department, fully organized once more, to-day was able to proceed without hindrance at its task of preparing the financial proposals for the session.

RAILWAY PORTFOLIO

Announcement that Mr. Dunning was succeeding the late Hon. James A. Robb came at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting last evening. Premier King accompanied the announcement with the statement that Mr. Dunning would remain as Acting Minister of Railways for the present, but an appointment to that portfolio might be expected before the opening of the next session of Parliament. No indication was given as to who might be chosen for the post.

C.N.R. REORGANIZATION

Mr. King said it was felt there was no pressing need for an immediate selection for Minister of Railways. It was hoped at the next session of Parliament to bring down legislation for the reorganization of the Canadian

Ferry Roads To Be Paved By Province

Reconstruction of West Road and Verdier Avenue Starts To-morrow

Saanich Men and Equipment To Be Employed; Cost Is $29,500

Extension of permanent paving of the West Road and Verdier Avenue, to serve the Mill Bay ferry, will be commenced to-morrow morning by the Provincial Public Works Department.

The pavement will extend for about one and a quarter miles, will be twenty feet wide and will cost $29,500. Saanich will pay one-fourth of the cost up to $7,375.

The Saanich public works committee had filed with the Provincial Department a bid of $29,500 for the construction of the new highway, and Reeve Crouch this morning informed Patrick Philip, Deputy Minister, that Saanich would expect that should the work cost more than the Saanich estimate, the Province will pay the excess expenditure.

SAANICH MEN AND MACHINES

Reeve Crouch has agreed to rent to the Provincial Public Works Department the modern roadbuilding equipment owned by Saanich, including several large hydraulic dump trucks, the gasoline shovel, scarifying apparatus required to tear up the existing surface and a steam roller. As far as possible, the Province will employ Saanich residents on the work.

BASE BUILT NOW

The full construction will be limited to preparation of the base of eight inches of broken rock. The material will be obtained from a large rock projection on Beach Drive near Verdier Avenue, resulting in a short haulage of the material.

MINE OUTPUT IN B.C. IS AT NEW HIGH MARK

Provincial Mineralogist Galloway Addresses Mining Institute at Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—British Columbia mines probably will produce $70,000,000 worth of ore during the present year, showing higher value and tonnage than during 1928.

This was the estimate made by J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, at the course of the B.C. Division of the annual meeting of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Hotel Vancouver this morning. Mr. Galloway is division chairman of the Institute.

NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Enthusiastic predictions about the potential value of Atlin and other northern British Columbia mining areas, and advocacy of the building of a highway through that country, with an eventual terminus in Alaska, marked the speech of Lieut.-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, who opened the meeting.

His honor paid a tribute to the part members of the Institute had played in bringing British Columbia mining industry to its present sound condition. To-day, he said, the prospector

FORM COMPANY TO FINANCE HOTEL HERE

St. George and the Dragon Hotel Company Ltd. Is Capitalized at $50,000

Start Awaits Favorable Action By Oak Bay Zoning Committee

Incorporation of the St. George and the Dragon Hotel Company Limited, with an initial capitalization of $50,000, is announced at the Parliament Buildings.

The new company is financing the conversion of the large residence of F. M. Rattenbury on Beach Drive as a modern hotel.

The work contemplated embraces the complete remodeling of the existing structure and the erection of an addition of eighty-two rooms with large dining-room and kitchen facilities.

The extension will be L-shaped and will run close to the Willows beach, where an amusement pier, boathouse and other developments are contemplated.

PLAN IMMEDIATE START

In confirming the incorporation of the St. George and the Dragon Hotel Company this morning, F. M. Rattenbury stated that the project would be proceeded with immediately the company received the necessary permit from the Oak Bay Council.

As the property comes within the zoning area the council will have to pass on the project and action in this regard is expected within the next two weeks.

The exterior of the new building will conform to the existing structure, and will be two stories in height with stucco finish and half-timbered gables.

The ultimate cost of the extensions, according to Mr. Rattenbury, will be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

The plans are now approaching completion, Architect Rattenbury says.

Canada Urges Conference On Trawlers' Work

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Canada is asking Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France and New Zealand to join in a conference to decide on some means of regulating trawling. Hon. P. J. A. Carlin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to-day stated he had initiated such a fisheries move, and representations to the various countries were being made through the Department of External Affairs.

"This is a condition which we have endeavored to solve off to the utmost of our power by the operation of our steam plant many months in advance of the actual need. It has cost us more than $350,000 to keep that plant in operation and will cost us much more before we are finished with it. Nothing we could do, however, could offset the extreme lack of rainfall which is so universal on the coast."

"I hope the public will realize the seriousness of the situation and by their co-operation enable us to provide power as along as possible in the most necessary cases."

TWO KILLED IN COLLISION

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—D. O. Watkins of Jasper, Alta., engineer on an extra eastbound freight, and Fireman E. C. F. Bragg of Edmonton, fireman on a westbound fast freight of the Canadian National Railways, lost their lives yesterday afternoon as the result of a head-on collision four miles west of Jasper.

Two other members of the train crew suffered minor injuries. Both locomotives and several cars were derailed, blocking the line until noon to-day.

B. T. Chappell, general superintendent of the British Columbia division, announced to-day an investigation into the cause of the accident was proceeding.

Washington Move To Stop Workers Daily Crossing Line

Washington, Nov. 27.—A regulation to compel aliens working in the United States to reside in Canada or Mexico is under consideration by the Labor Department.

The proposed regulation would impose a $10 visa and an $8 head tax on each alien for every trip made into the United States from either Canada or Mexico.

CHEAPER LIVING COSTS

It would affect several thousand aliens along the Canadian and Mexican borders who are employed in the United States but who live with their families in Canada or Mexico, where living conditions are said to be cheaper.

It was said at the Labor Department to-day that in the Detroit area alone 6,736 aliens admitted to the United States had gone back to Canada to establish their residence.

In the Detroit area, it was learned, the percentage of aliens working in the United States and living in Canada has increased substantially since the opening of the Ambassador Bridge at Detroit. It was said the bridge made it possible for workmen to live in Canada and reach their places of employment in the United States more quickly than if they lived in the suburbs of Detroit.

In addition, the proposed rule would affect a large number of workmen at Niagara Falls, Buffalo, along the Vermont and Maine

Autoist Picks Up Hikers and All Are Killed

Canton, N.Y., Nov. 27.—Three St. Lawrence University students and the driver of an automobile who had picked them up on their hitch-hiking trip to spend Thanksgiving Day at home were killed in a railroad crossing crash here to-day.

Nelson P. Lobdell, Victor, N.Y.; Raymond J. Beardsley, New Berlin, N.Y.; W. B. Anderson, Bridgeport, Conn., and Amos Goodbourn, driver of the car and a resident of De Kalb, N.Y., lost their lives.

Goodbourn was held to be passing another automobile as he reached the crossing. He skidded and his car came to a halt in the path of a passenger train. The locomotive caught the automobile on its fender and tossed the wreckage fifty feet.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary Adams to-day said the keels of the three cruisers whose construction was suspended by order of President Hoover last summer would in no event be laid until after the London naval limitation conference in January.

Advised of reports the navy was proceeding with construction of these ships despite the President's order and contrary to the understanding of the situation abroad, the Secretary said Mr. Hoover was fully aware of every step that had been taken by the navy in regard to the cruisers.

Because of the lengthy time required to prepare plans, build guns and assemble materials for the warships, the navy had proceeded to get everything in readiness for their construction, he said.

TILL JUNE 30

Members of Congress who guided the fifteen-cruiser building programme through the House and Senate have expressed the opinion that under the act the laying of the keels could be held up to the very end of the current fiscal year, ending June 30.

Further delay, they have said, would have to be authorized by Congress.

Kelley was convicted last year of the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Melius, society matron, with whom he admitted carrying on a love affair for five years. The butcher boy, then twenty-nine years old, was found hiding in a linen closet in the Melius mansion after the body of the woman had been discovered in a bedroom on the second floor. At his trial, Kelley admitted drinking with Mrs. Melius on the day of the slaying, but denied he had struck the blow with a whisky bottle which caused her death. The Supreme Court said in mitigating Kelley's sentence that evidence presented at his trial did not substantiate imposition of the death penalty.

BOND DEALERS OUT AGAINST NEW B.C. TAXES

Municipal Guaranteed Enterprises in Victoria Also Rapped

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Public debt of British Columbia is quite high enough and further borrowings should be most carefully considered and examined before being embarked upon, Brigadier General H. P. McDonald in his report on the finances of the province of British Columbia, made in conjunction with B. McDonald at the annual meeting of the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association at the Hotel Georgia.

"As compared with other western provinces, our per capita debt is much higher. The question of policy in regard to future borrowings is one which is hardly for this committee to dwell upon, but it is apparent that there will be before the public two important avenues about which much discussion will take place. These are the completion of the P.O.R., to provide connection from the seaboard to the Peace River, and the construction of economic questions of great magnitude, and any policy which may be laid down in regard to these should be very specific and definite and follow upon most thorough examination of the conditions.

NO OTHER BORROWINGS NEEDED

Beyond these two questions, no immediate necessity for large borrowings seems to be on the horizon, and it is felt that under normal conditions, the revenues of the province should cover all of the expenditures, consequent upon normal and satisfactory growth.

"Comparison is often made with the road facilities in other parts of the continent to the detriment of British Columbia. It would be folly to expect a province of the mountainous character and widely scattered centres of population which British Columbia has to maintain, with a population of less than three-quarters of a million, a system of highways in any way comparable to the network which covers more populous portions of the continent.

MUNICIPAL GUARANTEES RISKY

H. W. Miller presented the report of the committee on municipal finances, made in conjunction with L. Smith. "Last year, reference was made to the guarantee of certain issues by the city of Victoria," Mr. Miller stated in his report.

"The inspector of municipalities also referred to this tendency on the part of municipalities, and his report suggested that it did not entirely approve of the practice. Mr. Miller then made reference to the Woolen Mills here, which, he said, was a very bad time and the grain elevator, which, he said, is receiving little gain. "It would, therefore, appear that municipalities guaranteeing issues of industrial enterprises is not good business, since, although such businesses may be brought into successful operation, there is always the element of failure, since it is impossible to foresee conditions which may have a marked effect," the report continued. "Therefore, municipal industrial guar-

KEEN STRUGGLE EXPECTED FOR COUNCIL SEATS

F. J. Crowhurst to Be Candidate in Saanich; Other Names Are Mentioned

F. J. Crowhurst, 3264 Alder Street, has announced himself as a candidate for the Saanich Council, as a representative of Ward Two. Councillor J. McNair Paterson will not seek re-election, having been recently appointed provincial road superintendent.

Mr. Crowhurst is a recent arrival in Saanich, having taken up residence last March. He is familiar with municipal administration problems, having been mayor of Bolesval, Manitoba, for several years.

Frank H. Partridge, 1010 Tattersall Drive, well-known manager of the Central Creameries Limited, is also a prospective candidate for the Ward Two councillorship, having been asked by many friends to stand for election.

Dennis Hoare, of Douglas Street, who ran against Councillor Paterson last year, is expected to again seek election this year.

WARD FOUR VACANCY

Four well-known residents of Ward Four are being mentioned as candidates for the council seat to be vacated at the close of this year by Councillor William Stubbs. W. Richard Woods, of Glanford Avenue, a resident of Saanich since 1912, is being pressed by many friends to stand for election. He is cashier of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway and saw considerable war service in France.

H. L. Briggs, of Glanford Avenue, is also being asked to stand for election, but will make no statement until after the ward association meeting to be held on December 4. Already in the field are W. J. Lynn of Glanford Avenue and C. H. Williams of Roy Road.

Councillor Stanley Eden of Ward Seven is expected to face opposition next January. W. R. Hatfield of Gorge Road announced this morning that he will probably be a candidate, several deputations having asked him to stand for the council. Mr. Hatfield has been a taxpayer in Saanich for ten years and operates the Gorge Road Auto Camp.

G. R. Hunter of Shelbourne Street will not stand for the Ward One councillorship. Business takes him to the Lantzville mines every two weeks, he explained to friends.

G. A. Vantreigh has finally refused to return to the municipal arena, to oppose re-election of Councillor G. P. Watson.

antees are likely to increase liabilities and thereby have a detrimental effect upon a municipality's credit."

RECOMMENDATIONS

The recommendations of the Miller committee to the association, are: "1.—That municipalities be advised of the danger in guaranteeing bond issues floated by industries.

"2.—That they also be warned of over-expenditure, as this is likely to have a far-reaching effect on their credit standing.

"3.—Assessments should be kept in line more with current values rather than to offset the change in mill rate, otherwise their credit standing, as compared with municipalities of other provinces in Canada may be jeopardized. This may account for the wide spread between eastern and western bids.

"That this association recommend further consideration before the adoption goes on record that it is not in agreement with the suggestion of the Minister of Education by proposing a general income tax of one-half of one per cent for educational purposes."

NEW OFFICERS

Col. A. M. Brown was elected honorary president, with General H. P. McDonald as president. Other officers elected are: Vice-presidents, H. A. Rose and C. E. Brown; executive, R. B. McDermid, L. Smith, L. Reid, C. L. H. Branson, H. W. Miller, R. T. Hall; secretary, Major J. B. Stevenson.

as a result of the steadfast courage shown by the people at home and their determination to see things through to a victorious conclusion. If Canada's war contribution had been weak and indifferent, Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues would never have been able to take the stand they did at the peace conference. It is not boasting to say these things. It is simply an understanding of what the corps did to make Canada's name honored and respected."

CREDIT DUE

"Too often," Sir Arthur continued, "we see evidence that sections of classes in our country, even if they have not forgotten, are willing to take an attitude and withhold from the men of the Canadian Corps an acknowledgment of what that corps did to write Canada's name high on the world's roll of honor."

CURRIE URGES NEW RULES FOR PENSION BOARD

Canadian Legion Told By Its President System Needs Changes

Regina, Nov. 27.—General Sir Arthur Currie, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, and former Commander of the Canadian Corps, in a message sent from his sick bed in Montreal and read at yesterday afternoon's session of the annual convention of the Legion here, said in part: "The time has come when the regulations of the Pensions Board must be re-drafted from beginning to end, and when the attitude of the board charged with the administration must be one of sympathetic justice and not altogether one of saving."

"We must see to it that the treatment of returned soldiers does not become a political issue, but unless something is done it will be hard to control the flow of indignation now welling up in the hearts of those who believe the nation owes them a debt that justice should be done."

"Our aim must be to see to it that no man who went to the service of his country, and who has suffered because of his disability, is left in a state of poverty and want because of his disability."

QUESTION OF DISABILITIES

"That word 'disability' brings forcibly to my mind one of the great difficulties now confronting us, suffering greatly from disabilities which pensions authorities refuse to admit arose from war service. That is a contention from their part which has been made too often and too loudly."

"As years go on these breakdowns will become more numerous and no pension board or medical board will be free from the charge of calous indifference unless they are sympathetically regarded."

NO RETREAT

"This matter of adequate care for disabled comrades and for the dependents of those who fell, adequate employment for those whose careers were broken by war, is a matter which, as comrades, is an objective which we must reach and from which there must be no retreat."

"We know the air is full of peace talk, and peace is what we need, but more than the returned soldiers of Canada. We have the unequalled advantage of having known and experienced what war means. We do not speak from theories only, but from actual practice."

"Not only do we rejoice, but we will support to the full measure of our ability every effort that is made to increase the standard of living between the nations of the world, to the end that they shall never again adopt war as a means of enforcing their desires."

TOLMIE'S RAIL PLAN TOO SLOW, SAYS DONAGHY

B.C. Government Criticized For Delay in Giving Peace River Link

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—"From the day Hon. S. F. Tolmie took office fifteen months ago his Government has put the Peace River country with the P.G.E. Railway," Dugald Donaghy, K.C., said at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Centre Liberal Association last night.

"Reports from the Kamloops convention of the Provincial Conservative Association indicate some optimistic delegate moved a resolution to hasten the coast outlet from the Peace," he stated.

"Dr. Tolmie's reply to that resolution was that he was tied up with the two great railroads in a joint survey and could not interrupt that work."

"Donaghy asked, 'will we wait until Dr. Tolmie is ready to proceed with furthering a Peace River outlet movement?'"

"Unfortunately we have not had the benefit of a newspaper report of the proceedings at the Kamloops convention except from selected Tory papers," Mr. Donaghy continued. "That mistake of the Conservatives has never been made at any Liberal gathering in the history of the party. The press is the fourth estate and the greatest force in democracy, and all conventions of Liberals will always be open to the press and all parties."

Referring to the recent visit to British Columbia of Premier King, Mr. Donaghy said he had seen no reference in the press or from any platform place the Peace River as a policy of the Liberal Government in finding markets for Canadian products.

"The Government, by trade treaties and the appointment of trade commissioners, is reaching out for world markets," Mr. Donaghy declared, "and when they are reached then can this Dominion enter on an era of mass production that will rival that of the United States."

OFFICERS ELECTED

The Vancouver Centre Liberal Association named Premier King, T. D. Pattullo and Dugald Donaghy honorary presidents.

TAX RETURNS BARRED FROM MAKERS' SIGHT

Ruling Governing Provincial Income Papers Made By Chief Justice Morrison

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—"Once he parts with the information to the provincial assessor it is no longer his," ruled Chief Justice Morrison in B.C. Supreme Court here yesterday when refusing an application by Gordon Sloan on behalf of Joseph Celoni.

Celoni, who is being sued by the Province of British Columbia for $3,330 in income taxes, sought an order compelling the assessor to produce for inspection Celoni's original returns. Celoni had lost his copies and wished to peruse the originals for the purpose of preparing his defence.

Disclosure to any person, including the man who filed the return, was absolutely prohibited by the Taxation Act, according to the decision of the Chief Justice.

"It is for the Legislature to alter the law if they want to," he commented.

U.S. LAW

The philosophy behind it, he thought, was evidenced not so long ago in the United States when a law was passed which prohibited newspapers from publishing income tax returns.

Mr. Sloan next applied for examination of the assessor for discovery, and this matter was stood over for argument to-day.

"Why not let the order go on and see what questions he will ask?" suggested the judge to R. M. Macdonald, counsel for the Government. "Council for the crown can always object to the questions," he added.

Celoni did not exercise his right of appeal to the court of revision because he was out of the country at the time, explained Mr. Sloan.

PLAN $60 PRICE FOR NEWSPRINT

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Representatives of the pulp and paper interests are in conference here to-day with Premier G. H. Ferguson, of Ontario, and Premier L. A. Taschereau, of Quebec, in regard to the future of the industry as affected by the much-discussed price question.

The premiers will now proceed to use their influence to bring what moral pressure they can to bear on the paper manufacturers to induce them to agree as to the fair price of newsprint. Practically all the producers, Mr. Taschereau said, are willing to adopt the $60 figure, but some of them have long term contracts with publishers at lower prices. Premiers Ferguson and Taschereau, however, are not prepared to accept that as an excuse for not bringing the price up to a reasonable figure, the Quebec said.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well-known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't do an acid stomach with peptic or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bismarck's Manna and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck's Manna to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck's Manna can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use. Is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Wool Sale On

London, Nov. 27.—The offerings at the wool sales amounted to 10,989 bales, of which 8,800 were sold. Home and Continental dealers were already buyers of the best greasy merino and crossbreds at full current rates. There was a steady demand for shipes, chiefly for the home trade, and France was a fair purchaser of scoured pieces.

MAKE PEOPLE ASHAMED

The Vancouver Sun makes the following comment:

"The immolation of Premier Tolmie's phrases will make the people of British Columbia ashamed. Contrast this uncouth and stupid language with the fine and cultured restraint of Premier King's recent address in Vancouver on Canada's external relations. The Prime Minister painted a moving and dignified picture of Canada's development from a colony to a sovereign nation. He told how the Governor-General had been transformed from a representative of the British Government into a representative of the British King."

"It is a dizzy trip from the sublime to the nauseatingly ridiculous to read now of Premier Tolmie's conception of the Governor-General as a 'red-nosed, lame-duck politician'."

"Since Dr. Tolmie has been Premier of British Columbia, he has made his attitude towards patronage very clear. He has made it very obvious why his mind cannot rise above the mechanics of petty politics. His present statement shows his utter inability to appreciate the lofty conceptions of genuine statesmanship."

"British Columbia has been kind to Dr. Tolmie. Won by his genial demeanor, this Province took him in when he had outlived his usefulness to the Federal Conservative Party, and elected him to high office."

"But that is no reason why the people of British Columbia, Conservatives and Liberals alike, should expect Dr. Tolmie, as official spokesman for this Province, to make them feel cheap and ashamed."

Following resurfacing the existing road surface, rock will be placed and covered with a temporary layer of heavy gravel to permit winter traffic. This work will cost about $10,000. Early next spring the surplus gravel will be swept off and an asphalt surface two inches thick will be laid at a cost of $13,500. When required, a detour will be provided by Marchant Road and Beach Drive.

The new highway will be the widest yet laid in British Columbia, and will serve a large tourist and through traffic. It is the first construction undertaken by the Province since announcement of addition of several Spanish highways to the primary road system of the Province, which was to be the first step to ameliorate conditions which led to the agitation for secession from the municipality of the northern rural areas.

POWERS MAY END TILT IN MANCHURIA

Geneva, Nov. 27.—Dr. Wu Kai-sung, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, said the Nanking Government's attitude toward the latest developments in the Russo-Chinese situation in Manchuria before Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, this afternoon.

Dr. Wu told an Associated Press correspondent he would probably lodge Nanking's appeal for intervention in Manchuria with Secretary Drummond during the next few days.

Alaskan Gale Causes Loss At Kanakanak

Seattle, Nov. 27.—A great gale accompanied by extreme high tide did heavy damage to canneries and other buildings in the Bristol Bay district of Alaska on Sunday, a message to the United States Bureau of Education offices here to-day said.

A message from the Bureau of Education radio station at Kanakanak, an Indian village near Dillingham, said: "An extremely high tide accompanying a heavy southwest gale on November 24 caused serious damage in the Bristol Bay district and totally wrecked some of the canneries. Some not heard from may be in ruins."

Twenty-six canneries are in the district. George R. Gardner, government school superintendent at Unalakleet, reported winter supplies to replace those lost would have to be sent to Kanakanak or suffering would result.

Bureau of Education officials here said the losses might easily run to $100,000.

followed the geologist with a fair certainty of reward.

HIGHER PRICES "The higher output estimated for 1929 as compared with 1928 will be due to higher average metal prices, as several products will show slight decreases in quantities produced," said Mr. Galloway.

Copper will show a 5 to 10 per cent increase in quantity as compared with 1928, and a much higher money value owing to the increased market price of the metal. Gold, silver and lead outputs will show decreases and zinc may also be slightly under the 1928 figure. These declines in quantity output are in part due to lower grade ore being handled at some mines and partly owing to curtailed production, caused by low metal prices in the last three months of the year."

SALE OF COAL

In his review of the mining industry throughout the Province, Mr. Galloway forecast a decline in the output of coal and suggested a strong co-operative association of coal operators, committed to an active coal selling campaign, aided by technical research, might prove of value to the industry.

PROFITABLE MINES

Summing up results of three years of intensive exploration, Mr. Galloway said:

"The result is probably that a dozen

Important profitable producing mines will be brought into existence, and a number of others are developing fairly well. I draw your attention to the fact that five mines are producing ninety per cent of our metallic minerals, and that fifteen years ago these five mines were either unknown or relatively unimportant.

"These five mines are quite able to carry our mineral production at its present pace for some time, and the expectation of a dozen or more substantial new mines gradually coming into production assures us our mineral output will continue to expand."

CHANGES SEEN "A boom and collapse in British Columbia mining stocks which has featured the last three years, and has captured the imagination and now the despair of the public simply illustrates the extension of the sound idea put forward by T. A. Richard and others that more money is lost by the public in the over-valuation of rich mines than by dishonest mining promotion."

"In the last three years there has been rank over-valuation of mine prospects and wildcats—a condition caused largely by the gambling fever of the public. But I assure you this is only the froth, not the essence of the mining industry of British Columbia, which is progressing steadily regardless of stock prices. An industry, with $70,000,000 in annual production, with eighteen per cent of this paid out in dividends, and the bulk of the remainder distributed in the province, is a tremendous asset to the 600,000 people of British Columbia."

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used.

The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even these severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MR. DUNNING'S NEW PORTFOLIO

HON. CHARLES A. DUNNING WILL have a difficult task in following Hon. James A. Robb and Hon. W. S. Fielding as head of Canada's Department of Finance, but his record of achievement since he became a member of the Ottawa Government, both as administrator and parliamentarian, has been so satisfactory that his appointment will be generally approved.

Although he is the youngest Minister of the Crown to assume the portfolio of finance in the last three decades, Mr. Dunning has had a wide administrative experience, first as Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan in the government of Hon. William Martin, following whose elevation to the bench he was called upon to form a ministry. Under his administration Saskatchewan progressed at a rapid rate, and there was no surprise when Mr. Mackenzie King offered him a Cabinet post three years ago. Since 1926 Mr. Dunning has had charge of one of the most important and exacting departments of the public service—that of Railways and Canals—and in that capacity he has acquitted himself creditably.

A Canadian Minister of Finance always is considered a legitimate target for many conflicting elements in the public life of the country. He is bombarded with divergent representations on taxation and tariff, and must try to reach a common ground of policy. Mr. Dunning no doubt will be as successful as was the late Mr. Robb in dealing with these matters. He is thoroughly familiar with the government's policy, and realizes that that policy seems to be suiting the country's business very well indeed.

In Mr. Dunning, incidentally, as in the case of the late Mr. Robb, the cause of inter-empire trade will have a warm supporter. On many occasions the new Minister has expressed himself clearly on this subject, and we may be sure that, under his administration of the department, efforts will be continued to expand the reciprocal trading arrangements already in operation between Canada and other Dominions and countries in the British Commonwealth, as well as to establish new commercial contacts with the rest of the world.

Mr. Dunning is fortunate, of course, in being able to take over the department with such favorable conditions existing throughout the Dominion, while he must have a sense of satisfaction from the fact that while he has been Minister of Railways—he will retain that portfolio as well for the time being—the Canadian National Railways has made remarkable progress, and it is taken for granted that before he relinquishes charge of the railway department he will bring to fruition plans upon which he has been working for some time in connection with the reorganization of the capital account of the national transportation system.

OVERBOARD

HON. MR. HINCHCLIFFE'S TAXATION project has gone overboard. Report says it was rejected by the caucus of government followers in the Legislature here last week, and it was only indirectly referred to at the party convention in Kamloops a few days later. Recalling that reduction in taxation was one of the most important planks of the Conservative platform in the provincial election in 1928, in which the party was voted into office, the members felt they could not swallow that pledge without serious consequences. Whatever other pre-election promises they may be able to side-step, this is one which reacts too sharply and quickly upon the taxpayers to hold in contempt.

A press dispatch from Kamloops during the Conservative convention contained the significant statement that not only was Mr. Hinchcliffe's proposal objectionable to followers of the government, but it did not have the approval of even his colleagues in the ministry. The Minister of Finance was said to be very much opposed to it.

This explanation reflects a strange state of affairs within the government. It is very unusual for a Minister to propose, publicly, an important policy—especially one affecting taxation—without first having obtained the approval of the government of which he is a member. A ministerial announcement of this character is quite properly regarded as a government announcement, not merely which Minister may make it. Furthermore, taxation, whether for education or other purposes, is a matter for the Minister of Finance, not the Minister of Education, to administer.

Mr. Hinchcliffe's scheme called for a new income tax for education, without any remission of the present income tax. It was to be sugared with a promise of larger grants to municipalities, thereby relieving local taxpayers. Incidentally, this is the same Mr. Hinchcliffe who promised the electors last year a reduction of fifty per cent in the present income tax, besides other tax reductions, and who in several memorable speeches declared that a Tolmie administration would put an end to all our taxation miseries.

CANADA IS ADVERTISING

CANADA'S DEPARTMENT OF TRADE and Commerce was complimented in the British House of Commons yesterday when one of the Liberal members alluded to the success of the publicity which its organization has been conducting in the Old Country. He suggested a similar agency be formed in the Dominions for the benefit of British goods.

Canada has realized, of course, that if trade with the rest of the empire is to be developed, reciprocal trading arrangements will have to be augmented with proper selling and advertising campaigns. The Department of Trade and Commerce can only do so much in this regard. It is paving the way for the sale of more Canadian goods to Great Britain by advertising the principle; but it has only a certain amount of public funds at its disposal. It is up to the Canadian exporter to follow the example.

Great Britain sells to Canada only about one-third of the amount she buys from us. She could get more of the business now going to the neighboring republic if she would let the Canadian consumer know what she has to sell. What the British exporter does is his business; but he would find it would pay him to advertise more extensively in Canada.

If Mr. Thomas, as Minister of Employment, were to ask for money for advertising British wares within the empire and other countries, he would soon find a bigger demand for British labor.

PIONEER PASSES

A HOST OF WARM FRIENDS WILL deeply deplore the passing of Mrs. M. J. Courtney, who had been a resident on this coast for seventy years. She was the daughter of one of the Royal Engineers who came out here in 1859 in connection with the boundary survey. Subsequently he and his family resided in New Westminster, returning to Victoria after the union of the Island and the Mainland. Mrs. Courtney's husband was a well-known lawyer and police magistrate in the early days of the capital.

Mrs. Courtney will long be remembered for her active interest in worthy causes, her splendid philanthropic spirit, and her many amiable personal qualities. She was a fine type of pioneer whose beneficent influence was of real value in the formative stages of this community's development. With its tribute to her memory The Times couples an expression of sympathy with her two sons in their sorrow.

THE PICTURE POSTCARD

ANOTHER NOTABLE CONTRIBUTOR to the world's progress has passed to his last rest under circumstances that are a reproach to a public of short memory. His name was Ludwig Zrenner, the man who produced the first picture postcard, who died recently and was given a pauper's funeral in Munich, Bavaria. He died in a garret, unknown and utterly forgotten. This reference to his death tells his tragic story.

Zrenner was a young printer in Nuremberg, and in the 'seventies he hit on the brilliant idea which made many men's fortunes, of printing views on the reverse side of postcards. He brought out the world's first series of picture postcards on May 1, 1872, and the idea spread with remarkable rapidity. At the age of sixty he retired, but the inflation of the mark after the war swallowed up his savings and at the age of seventy he found himself penniless.

The story of the picture postcard, of course, also is the story of the development of the various processes of illustration. The first picture cards were scarcely things of beauty. Even when the illustrated side was adorned by one of the early half-tones the improvement over the old wood cut was very little to boast about. With the advent of the three-color process, however, a revolution in the production of picture postcards—and, of course, of the illustrating business generally—set in. Then picture postcards became something akin to works of pictorial art.

Within the last twenty-five years, moreover, the picture postcard in photograph and facsimile photograph has become so common as to excite no special interest whatever. It has been taken as a matter of course. Whether the development of his original idea was of any comfort to Zrenner in his garret lodging in his last days, we probably shall never know. He has gone to join other who went out of this world unnoticed, but who made notable contributions to its progress and pleasure.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE EXPERT COMMITTEE

Domestic representatives will begin to gather in London in a few days in anticipation of the meeting next month of the expert committee decided on by the Imperial Conference of 1926. The expert committee is to inquire into and report, with recommendations to the Imperial Conference next year, on certain points in connection with the operation of Dominion legislation which are thought to require clarification.

The Imperial Conference of 1926 also directed that a special sub-committee should meet at the same time to consider the principles that should govern practice and legislation relating to merchant shipping in the various parts of the Empire. The terms of reference for the expert committee were set out in the report of the last Imperial Conference, but since then much correspondence has passed between the governments of the Empire and it seems likely enough that other matters which have come to the forefront since 1926 will be added.

For instance, it is evident that when the representatives of Britain and the dominions were holding private conference in Geneva a fortnight ago, before the signing of the optional clause, one of the items discussed was a project for establishing a court or board to settle disputes between members of the British Commonwealth of Nations. This would seem an appropriate subject for the consideration of the committee, which will include the chief legal and constitutional experts of each member of the commonwealth.

Loose Ends

The challenge is offered to a bridge-mad world—along with the Informative Double—the United States Government argues about football—and there is trouble for tall men.

By H. B. W.

EVERYBODY has heard, of course, of the American boy who shot and killed her husband because he trumped her ace, or something of the sort, at a little family bridge game and many, doubtless, have felt a secret sympathy for both of them after similar experiences of their own. It is entirely probable, indeed, that if the bridge game continues at its present rate, slaughter under such conditions will be made justifiable homicide in most countries and violence with intent to do bodily harm will be permitted in the case of partners who insist on taking the bid away from you and then go down three or four.

THESE THINGS ARE well known, but what is not so well known is the controversy now being waged in the United States over another new and atrocious invention known as the Challenge. Now, what the Challenge is I don't know and, I judge by what appears in the American press, neither do the people who invented it. It seems to have something to do with the so-called Informative Double and is evidently designed to take the place of that iniquitous and loathsome thing. In other words, when you want to inform your partner that you don't know where you are at, or what you are doing, you say: "I challenge." After that it is up to him to save what he can from the wreck.

A LEARNED CORRESPONDENT of The New York Times declares that by using the Challenge, partners can keep themselves perfectly informed about the contents of one another's hand and thus know the worst from the start. "The adversary at the left of the challenger," this authority states "may either (a) pass, (b) bid, or (c) say: 'Challenge accepted.' This acceptance informs the player's partner that his holdings are stronger than would be indicated by a 'pass.' The partner of the challenger thereupon has the option of passing, bidding or doubling (and presumably in a civilized state of shooting); but if the accepted challenge be passed to the challenger, the latter must either bid or double."

THIS IS HAILED a tremendous advance in one of the most important departments of modern life. Soon people who understand all these bridge conventions will know where every card in the pack is held, and it seems to me that it would be much simpler if each player showed his cards to his partner and his opponents before he started. This would save endless time and the result would be the same any way. And it would introduce a new element of safety into the game, too for at present you never know when you may have some boorish partner who refuses to take any notice of conventions like the Informative Double and the Challenge and goes on winning in spite of you. For such players there should be a new convention known as The Assault and Battery.

PEOPLE WHO are out for large armies and navies should follow closely the recent trouble between the great American naval academy at Annapolis and the military academy at West Point. The naval academy limits its athletes to three years of collegiate competition. The army allows members of its three upper classes to play irrespective of the variety experience that a cadet may have had before reaching West Point. The Navy thought the Army ought to conform to the general rule. The Army thought the Navy was complaining because it had been beaten at football by the Army so often lately. As a result, the Army and the Navy have not played football together for a long time and in the higher circles of government this appeared to everyone to be quite absurd.

THE OTHER day the heads of these two great institutions were brought together in Washington apparently through the mediation of President Hoover himself, to settle this ancient grievance. For a long time General Smith, head of West Point, and Admiral Robinson, superintendent at Annapolis, argued the rights of their respective football teams. Finally they banged out of the conference room more in disagreement than ever and each accusing the other of stubbornness.

THE ROW did not end there. The Secretary of the Navy immediately issued a statement supporting Admiral Robinson and attacking General Smith and the stand of Admiral Robinson. So that over the question of a football game between the Army and the Navy the nation beheld the delicious spectacle of a row in the inner ranks of the United States Government. And perhaps this is why the governments of the United States and other countries have found at such places as Geneva that great naval and military commanders, the nation's salvation in war time, are not the best media for settling the problems of peace and disarmament. They know their own business, but it is fighting, not compromising.

NO ORGANIZATION in this over-gangled world is pursuing a nobler object than the society now working in the United States to improve conditions for tall men. Its scope actually extends much further than men of six feet or more. It embraces nearly all of us and as the male of the species is said by scientists to be growing longer and longer its usefulness will increase as time goes on. It enforces all of us, even those of us who are quite small, for all men are afflicted these days by the prevailing tendency to make everything smaller. Houses are smaller, rooms are smaller, chairs are smaller until in most modern homes, as an Old Country paper sagely observes, it may be said that everyone shrinks but father. Nay, even roasts of meat are being made smaller so that they will fit into the smaller stoves of smaller kitchenettes and you will shortly find for the same reason that only the eggs of bantam hens will be saleable. Only man goes contrary to this general tendency and, being only a man, he gets hurt.

THE AMERICAN society which exists to right these distressing conditions is doing its best, but unfortunately it is doomed to failure. Man is not strong enough to withstand such a general urge. It is hopeless to expect furniture and houses and joints of meat to grow larger when women are determined to have them smaller, for women don't care how uncomfortable these things are so long as they are in the vogue. Obviously what must be done is not to try to make them larger. What we must do over a period of years is to make men smaller. We must adapt ourselves to our possessions instead of trying to adapt our possessions to us. Such is the way of all civilized peoples.

EDMUND WRAGGE, TORONTO, DIES

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Edmund Wragge, ninety-three, died at his home here yesterday following three weeks' illness from pneumonia. He was internationally famous as a consulting engineer, having had charge of many large and important railway projects in Canada, England and South Africa. Surviving are a son, E. C. Wragge, Nelson, B.C., and four daughters, including Mrs. George W. Allen, Winnipeg.

Times Explorers Persuade Jolly Old Man to Make Personal Visit; Great News Is Wirelessly by Kleinschmidt to Victoria Times.

By CAPTAIN F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT, Special Correspondent to The Victoria Times and Head of Expedition to Home of Santa Claus. (By Wireless)

This is the biggest surprise Santa has given us yet and you know from my previous dispatches how often he surprised us with Jack Frost, the Christmas woods, the Easter Rabbit and the Observatory.

It all came as the result of a long talk I had with him. I believe in bigger and better Christmases every year and this is going to be the happiest one of all for the children of Vancouver Island. There are many surprises in store for Christmas morning I am sure, for I have invented some brand new toys, none of them has ever been seen before, and I am coming with a bigger sleigh than ever.

I told him that nothing would do as much to make Christmas bigger and better in Victoria than a visit from him, and I told him that The Victoria Times would be delighted to co-operate with him during his visit.

He thought about the plan a good deal, trying to get his schedules arranged. You see this is the busiest season of the entire year and it is no small job to get ready for the task that faces him at Christmas. And then he gave me his answer.

HE'S COMING!

"You may tell the boys and girls of Victoria and vicinity that I will go back with you and Mrs. K." he said. And his eyes twinkled as he said it, for no one knows any better than Santa just how much pleasure he can give by such a visit.

I was so delighted that I jumped into the air and clicked my heels together three times before I came down.

It was almost more than I had expected when I came up here. I thought that the most I could get would be some moving pictures and that I might possibly arrange to have Santa talk on the radio some evening. But now he actually has promised to go back to Victoria with us. And when Santa gives his word, not even Laylak, the Northwind can change it.

"When will you be ready to start?" Santa asked. This question brought me back to some thinking again for you can imagine how thrilled I was at his promise.

Our baggage, including our precious motion pictures, were all packed, and we only had to transfer them to the aeroplanes. These were standing ready in their snow hangars and the motors only needed warming up. Still I had to attend to and settle many things that took up time.

We settled with Patunuk and Kitenna, our faithful Eskimos, and everything we could spare and which we actually did not have to use on our flight home we left with them and it proved to be quite a heap of goods, making them virtually millionaires in Eskimoland.

Our rifles and ammunition, of course, topped the list in value, because this meant food in the shape of seal, walrus and polar bear. A pair of binoculars were priceless to them because they made your eyes so strong you could see things for miles.

The whole village wanted to club together and buy one of the aeroplanes if a white man would stay with them for a year and teach them how to run it.

We did not wish to offend these kind and childlike people, so we had to invent excuses, but sometimes we were hard pressed for it. For instance, I gave Kitenna my flashlight, which had been of great help to us in the dark looking for things around camp. Even Laylak could not blow out its light. I gave him extra batteries and showed him the simple use of it.

Now another Eskimo came up with some beautiful white fox skins and offered them for an electric light bulb. He had seen the fine light it gave, and would not that have solved so many problems for them in their house where they had to use seal oil and reindeer moss for light. It was as simple as the flashlight, for all you had to do was hang the bulb on a string and turn a little knob.

So you see we had to use infinite tact for an Eskimo like most uncivilized people will respect you and quickly judge you according to what you say and how you deal with them.

The Eskimos are the most truthful people in the world, and if one of them should ever tell a lie, he would be ostracized by the whole village.

Mrs. K. also divested herself of everything she could spare and robbed us into the bargain. If we should have an accident on the way home it will go hard with us, for we won't have a pot to cook in, a needle or thread nor a tent to pitch camp with. The only thing I am sure she has left is her wedding ring.

The aeroplanes have been rolled out of the snow hangar and the motors are running. We have to dismantle the wireless set and I have to sign off. I wonder how Santa is going to like his trip by aeroplane. He is laughing and joking with Mrs. K. He thinks the trip is going to be a very pleasant one, and I feel he will be of great help in bad weather and flying over the first 1,000 miles back to Hudson Bay. He certainly knows the country and every mountain and river.

He already anticipated the great

HOW I LOST 28 LBS.

In a Safe, Easy Way

Read how one woman lost 28 lbs. of fat, without diet, without dangerous drugs or exercises.

"I take a daily dose of Kruschen, and I have lost two inches round the waist and hips and 28 lbs. since last summer. I feel very well on it and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5 ft. 4 in. in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family."

Don't go lumbering about with a burden of unhealthily excess fat—you can get rid of it easily if you get the Kruschen habit.

Kruschen Salts provides the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat that you can possibly desire. By purifying your blood of harmful acids, helping the liver, kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material, they remove in a natural way the fatty deposits which poisonous waste matter has produced. Not only do you lose pounds in weight, but you lose years in appearance. Little by little, the ugly fat disappears—slowly, yes—but surely—and you soon feel wonderfully healthy, vital and energetic—more so than ever before in your life. (Adv.)

pleasure he will give to the boys and girls in Victoria. Nothing gives him more pleasure than to give pleasure to others. He is the most unselfish person in the world, and that is why he is the most beloved man in the world.

IS STANDING FOR TRUSTEE

CAPT. F. E. WRIGHT

Capt. F. E. Wright, who is a candidate for School Trustee, has resided in Esquimalt and Victoria for the last twenty-five years. He came from England to Victoria to supervise the construction of the fortifications at Signal Hill, Esquimalt.

Capt. Wright retired from the Royal Canadian Engineers five years ago, and therefore has unlimited time for service, and believes that his more than thirty years experience in all kinds of building construction and building trades would be of considerable value to the School Board.

He is keenly interested in education, believing it to be the key to progress and a successful democracy. Modern education should not only be an accumulation of data, but a method of teaching the pupil to think for himself, and so enable him, in after life, to act and vote intelligently, says Capt. Wright.

Studebaker's President Eight

Holds World's Highest Records for Speed and Endurance

THE PRESIDENT EIGHT STATE SEDAN for seven

REGISTRATION figures throughout the Dominion reflect the universal prestige won by Studebaker's President Eight—and never was public preference so richly merited.

Merely to create a single car capable of running continuously at more than 68 mile speed for 30,000 miles would be a triumph. To design and produce in quantity cars so uniformly excellent that four of them could be picked blindly by impartial officials and win the world championship—that is achievement.

Strength After Childbirth

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was unable to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation."

Nature's Specifics for Coughs and Colds

Nature has provided specifics for many of the ills to which man is subject. Perhaps there is no better example than the treatment of coughs, colds and kindred ailments.

LINSEED or flaxseed is what the doctors call a demulcent. In other words its value from a medicinal point of view is that it soothes and allays irritations and abrasions.

TURPENTINE is antiseptic, stimulating and sedative to the local nerves. Almost everybody knows the value of turpentine as a treatment for bronchial affections.

The combination of linseed and turpentine with some other equally valuable ingredients have made Dr. Chase's "Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine" the most effective and most popular treatment for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, etc.

FOLK DANCERS' ART DELIGHTS BIG AUDIENCE

English Team in Graceful Demonstration at Shrine Auditorium Yesterday

800 Children From City Schools Enjoyed Performance in Afternoon

The festive spirit of the rural England of tradition, the spirit which permeated the May Day and Whitsuntide festivals on the village green, was re-created for a few brief hours last evening by the responsive audience which gathered in the Shrine auditorium to witness the demonstration of morris and folk dancing by the members of the English Folk Dance Society, who are visiting Canada as the guests of the National Council of Education.

DANCE FOR LOVE OF IT
"We dance these old dances because we love them," explained Douglas Kennedy, the director, in his preliminary remarks, as the demonstration, and no one watching them but could be impressed with the enthusiasm of the dancers as they gracefully tripped and skipped through the quaint evolutions of these delightful old bucolic measures, which are now being revived throughout England through the efforts of the society.

There is a refreshing naïveté about these folk dances and their joyous spontaneous spirit was admirably sustained by the very gifted team who demonstrated them last evening. And the audience quickly responded to the spirit, applauding with an appreciative enthusiasm which culminated in an ovation at the close of each group. Among the many fascinating numbers presented was Gathering Peascods, The Furry Dance, Newcastle, Phoenix, and Step Stately, The Triumph, all country dances. Bardsdon, Northumberland sword dance, with intricate figure, "Lads a-Bunchum," a morris dance in which Canadian maple staves had replaced the willow wands formerly used by the "Lads a-Bunchum." Peascods, a sprightly number danced to the accompaniment of the old pipe and tabor, and many other old dances collected by the late Cecil Sharp, founder of the society.

CHARMING COSTUMES
The dancers wore in costume, the women in graceful, full-skirted dresses of a soft blue banded at the hem with gay-colored ribbons, while the men wore tight-fitting knee-breeches of black, with white shirts, and a brace-like effect of ribbons and roses, and in the morris dances, garters and ankle-bells with tiny bells which tinkled pleasantly as they danced.

FOLK SONG GROUPS
Between the groups of dances a number of delightful folk songs were sung by Clive Carey, the noted baritone, who will be well remembered here as the MacHeath of "The Beggars' Opera." In spite of a cold, Mr. Carey gave a notable performance, interpreting these old ditties with a charm which completely captivated his audience, and he responded generously to the insistent demand for encores.

Mrs. Mary Elliott Hobbs, M.B.E., was at the piano throughout the programme, her playing of the quaint old tunes adding much to the pleasure of the performance, while Miss Joan Sharp, daughter of the late Cecil Sharp, accompanied one of the dances on the pipe and tabor, two musical instruments of a bygone day.

Hon. Senator G. H. Barnard, chairman of the local committee of the National Council of Education, presided, and Douglas Kennedy, director of the group, introduced each group of dances with a few words of explanation as to its origin and meaning.

At the conclusion of the display Mr. Kennedy said that he hoped that one result of last night's performance would be the establishment of the nucleus of a folk dancing society in Victoria. Anyone, he said, who was capable of standing on his legs and preserving his or her balance was also capable of taking part in any of the country dances which had just been demonstrated.

Welcome Club—Y.W.C.A. Welcome Club will have a speaker of much interest on Thursday in the person of Miss M. Moore, a missionary of Angola, South Africa. Speeches will be served at 6 o'clock and address at 7. A cordial invitation is extended to women and girls.

L.O.G.T. Meeting—The monthly meeting of Triumph Lodge No. 16, I.O.G.T., will be held on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. H. Watson, 633 Belmont Avenue.

The average woman considers the actress hopelessly ahead of her in the art of enhancing natural beauty.

The reason for this advantage is that the actress makes a business of attracting and she must "know how." It is her bread and butter.

In the matter of powder, for instance, my forty-four years on the stage have made me almost unbelievably exacting. I never considered the cost of my powder, so long as it pleased me.

After years of searching I found France the powder that now adds the last touch to my careful toilette. It satisfies me because it has the one quality I have found in no other powder. That is, it blends so smoothly with the texture of my skin that my face never looks "made up" when I am offstage.

Because it lends such natural bloom I call it my Youth Powder. In the immense quantities now produced I can able to offer it to women at a low price.

If your skin requires a clinging powder I advise using my Youth Powder.

Flesh, brunette or white. (Adv.)

WOMEN TOLD OF CONDITIONS IN BRITAIN TO-DAY

Dean Mary L. Bollert Recalls Impressions of Trip For Women's Canadian Club

Says English Varsity Students Take Education More Serious Than Young Canadians

"An Idler in Europe" was the title chosen by Dean Mary L. Bollert of the University of British Columbia, for her fascinating address before the Women's Canadian Club at its meeting at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, but her alleged idling this summer was by no means purposeless, to judge by the many pictures of European conditions which she made live for her interested audience.

England, its economic conditions, its Parliament, its outstanding women, its experiments in adult education and its reactions to the peace movement, all were touched upon by the speaker with the deft, sure touch of understanding. While in London, Miss Bollert attended several sessions of the House of Commons and listened with particular interest to the discussions upon unemployment.

NET MISS BONFIELD
In that connection she came in contact with Miss Margaret Bonfield, England's first woman cabinet minister who holds the portfolio of Minister of Labor. And Miss Bonfield the speaker observed that while she may not have fulfilled, up to the present time the very sanguine hopes of her most ardent admirers, she has probably done all that anyone in her position could do to meet a very difficult situation.

Miss Bollert made reference to the shutting down of many of Great Britain's steel and iron, textile and ship-building plants, and of the mines through conditions arising out of the war, and as the result of scientific research, conditions which had aggravated the unemployment situation. But publishing unemployment figures drew the British practice of continually attention to a condition, which, according to the statistics of the International Labor Bureau at Geneva, was equally bad in almost every European country except France.

THE DOLE'S EFFECTS
The dole and its ramifications, particularly its effect upon the young and the young men who were growing up without the wholesome experience of employment, were touched upon by the speaker. But Miss Bollert noted the encouraging statement made by Sir Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, recently, to the effect that the working people of England had saved up in thrift organizations the huge sum of a billion and a half pounds.

England's strides in adult education were touched upon by Miss Bollert, who stated that over 1,000,000 adults were attending evening schools throughout the country, while over 50,000 were studying cultural subjects in London alone.

SERIOUS STUDENTS
Her sojourns in London and in Oxford, where she came closely in contact with the universities, convinced the speaker that university education is a much more serious business to the young people of England than it is to young Canadians.

"Over there they don't go to the university to get a B.A. to tack on as a kind of appendage, to enhance one's social prestige, for they go because there are a lot of boys at the university, or because of 'frat' attractions," she observed with a smile. "They take their university course much more seriously than that, and because of it they submit to rules and regulations which would not be tolerated by students or parents in this country."

NO "DOLLING-UP"
Miss Bollert spoke of the graduation exercises at Oxford University, where she was much impressed by the dignity of the academic regalia worn by the girl students on this auspicious occasion. She confessed to preferring this garb as being more beautiful and stated to the dignity of the occasion than the "dolling-up" in practice in Canada. But the implied criticism was qualified with the observation that the centuries of tradition behind the Old Country universities, with their customs shrouded in antiquity, tended to a more serious viewpoint on the part of the student than could be expected of the young people in this very young country.

Mrs. P. B. Scurrell presided at the gathering, and Miss Cann voiced the thanks of the gathering to the speaker, which was supplemented with a beautiful bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Miss Nora Jones sang two solos with Miss Brumpton at the piano.

ALLEGES WOMAN A PRISONER ON LOCAL ISLAND

Rancher's Wife Makes Charges of Poisoned Food
in Divorce Suit

Seattle, Nov. 27.—Charging her husband had held her prisoner on an island off the coast of British Columbia and had offered her poisoned food, Mrs. Marie Noline filed suit for divorce in Superior Court yesterday against John Noline.

Victoria, married Mrs. Noline, formerly Marie Anderson of Seattle, in Vancouver last July, according to Col. Herbert W. Meyer, attorney for Mrs. Noline. It is alleged she became virtually a prisoner at Noline's island home. When he left the island he locked a gate on the bridge which was the island's only means of egress, so his wife could not leave, Meyer charged. She escaped and came to Seattle.

Patients Entertained—The Fellowship Club held its usual tea and entertainments in the wards for aged and infirm patients at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon, when the program included organ solos by Mrs. Bosworth, violin numbers by Mrs. Thornbrow, and songs by Mrs. Shrimpton and Mrs. Davidson. A dainty tea was served. The club will hold its next card party at the home of Mrs. Hannah Walls, 3148 Spring Road, on Friday evening, December 13, the proceeds to be used to buy a weekly supply of fruit for the patients in these two wards at the hospital.

STINNES HEIR WEDS SECRETLY

There was a wedding of distinction, but it was without social or diplomatic pomp. For Dr. Edmund Stinnes, eldest son of the late Hugo Stinnes, fabulously wealthy German industrial magnate, was married secretly in New York to pretty Miss Marga von Gaevernitz. She is the daughter of a former president of the German Reichstag. They are pictured together here soon after the ceremony.

YOUR BABY and MINE

There aren't any RUBBER STAMP BABIES!
Every mother has a right to hope for and expect an ideal baby. The kind which smiles from the pages of advertisements is constantly referred to in the baby books as the "average" baby. These babies sleep from one feeding to the next without waking. They cry just a little bit "for exercise." Their food never gives them a pain, or if it does it is easily diagnosed as a pain and not "being spoiled." Oh these baby books! But a mother finds after one week in baby's company that having fulfilled all her obligations to keep baby dry and comfortable and handle him only when changing him and to let him cry rather than be accustomed to being taken up when he cries, that there are days, and hours when all of these things do not bring the promised results and baby screams when he should be sleeping and sleeps when he should be eating. Ah me! That is what makes being the mother of any baby such an interesting job. There just aren't any rubber stamp babies. So this optimistic letter causes us to chuckle just a bit.

FROM MRS. E. R. L.
"We are expecting our baby the middle of May. What kind of skirts shall I prepare, part wool and cotton, or all wool?"

"I have planned a large, rectangular clothes basket, to be lined simply, for cleanliness sake, and mounted on a child's coaster wagon with sides removed. This can be wheeled from room to room. What do you think of this improvised crib?"

"I hope to be able to nurse baby nine months. Shall he be weaned to a bottle then? Another thing I won't consent to a pacifier. And not even the points are to pick baby up, after he is comfortable and should be off to dreamland. If he has no pains he can cry a little. If he oversleeps the next period, shall I waken him?"

ANSWER
I applaud your ideals... but don't hear too closely to any line of conduct. There may be times when you won't know whether it is pain or hunger or what is causing baby to cry. Keep right on with regular habits but don't make a fetish of letting baby "cry it out."

We offer our readers a leaflet on "Information for the Prospective Mother" for the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope, which give a layette for babies born in winter or summer, and also the necessities for the nursery. I believe you would find this valuable.

Clever as is the coaster idea, the basket alone is enough, for there would be a constant temptation to wheel the baby to sleep and baskets can be so easily carried from room to room. Given a cup early in life babies can be weaned at nine months to a cup, otherwise a bottle would have to be used. If baby is to be kept to regular hours he ought to be wakened at the nursing period. Sometimes it comes about that it is advisable to let him sleep if he has cried for an hour after being nursed. As for pacifiers such habits are the fault of the parent. Smart as our babies are, they can't demand a pacifier if they never had one.

Belmont Young People's Society—The meeting of the Young People's Society of Belmont United Church was held on Monday evening in the schoolroom of the church with thirty-three present. W. E. Cook acted as chairman. The meeting took the form of a debate, "Resolved that Canada offers more opportunities to young people than United States." Those taking part were as follows: Miss Winnifred Chapman and Miss Lillian Perry, the affirmative side, and Miss Kitty Dawes and Miss Kate Peck the negative side. This proved very interesting, some very good points being raised by both sides. After some consideration those taking the affirmative side were adjudged the winners. The judges were Mrs. J. Hall, Miss Isabel Chapman and W. F. Emery. A vote of thanks was tendered to the debaters by Miss Isabel Chapman and to the judges by Mrs. James Hood, after which a couple of games were played. The next meeting will take place on Monday evening at 7:30, and will take the form of a Christian fellowship meeting. Rennie Butler's group having charge of the same, to which all young people are invited.

"Uncle" Joe Cannon served as representative to Congress during the terms of eleven presidents.

Many Guests At Wedding Held At Bride's Home

On Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, 3213 Shelbourne Street, Rev. S. G. Blair officiated in marriage Christina Victoria, daughter of Mrs. R. Hill, and Mr. Herbert James Edmonds, only son of Mr. H. Edmonds of Port Alberni.

Now! the health vitamin of sunshine put in a whole wheat food

Ultra-Violet Rays give to Muffets... the whole wheat biscuits... the vitamin that builds hard teeth, strong bones. No increase in price!

YOU'VE read about it—that "something" in sunlight which has such a beneficial effect upon health. The magazines and newspapers are constantly telling of the newly-discovered importance to health of the sun's rays.

Now Professor Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin, famed scientist, has found a way to put the Vitamin "D" of sunlight into Muffets by irradiating this whole-wheat cereal with Ultra-Violet Rays. Muffets so irradiated pass on to you the precious sunshine vitamin!

Nutritionists hail the irradiation of cereals as one of the most important health discoveries in years. Children need a constant supply of Vitamin "D" to build hard, sound teeth and strong bones. Adults, likewise, need the sun vitamin.

The Ultra-Violet Rays of the sun cannot penetrate through ordinary window glass, and they are effectively stopped by fog or smoke, and even by the clothes you wear.

A Muffet is a "ribbon" of cooked whole wheat wound 'round and 'round and baked to a delicious crispness. Crumbles easily in the hand. Ready to eat with sugar and cream, with berries or fruit added... or just buttered. Um-m-mm! What a meal!

Won't you try irradiated Muffets? Learn how delicious and good they are and from them get the "sunshine vitamin". There is no increase in price.

Nutritionists stress the need of sunshine's Vitamin "D" to help build sound bodies. And this precious health vitamin is now brought you in a delicious, crisp, crunchy whole-wheat food!

Irradiated MUFFETS

The Whole Wheat Biscuit—Product of The Quaker Oats Company

Adding the "dash of sunshine"

The healthful Vitamin "D" is added to Muffets by passing this whole wheat cereal under the rays of Ultra-Violet lamps. Every Muffet is thus "irradiated" and retains the effect of the sunshine indefinitely. Muffets, therefore, bring to you an important ration of the precious "sun vitamin".

New Rules Experience Mediocre Success In National League

THE SPORTS MIRROR

ONE fight that would possibly draw one of those famous $1,000,000 gates, that used to be such common things in the days of the late Tex Rickard, would be the placing in the ring of the Argentine, and the powerful Panatela Prieto Carnera, who recently won on a foul from Young Stribling. Providing there is a ring big enough to hold these two skyscrapers, it looks like an opportunity that P. T. Barnum never would have missed. Or the late Rickard, either, for that matter. Here you have two of the biggest fighters in the world. Carnera, who is getting $5,000 a week just to let people in London survey his proportions, is coming to the United States sooner or later. Why not match him with an opponent somewhere around his own size? He surely would not have to stoop to conquer Campolo.

Carnera is six feet ten inches vertically and weighs in the region of 275 pounds. After he eats, so they say, he does 300 without his overcoat. His appetite is said to be easily better than a circus elephant, and that is going some. Victoria is not so big. He only weighs 221 and his elevation is six feet six and a half inches. There is just a chance that both of these fighters could be brought into the same ring. Out of sheer curiosity plenty of people would pay just to see such gladiators wave their arms at one another in the squared circle.

Victoria's first rally into the ring in the U.S. was just so so. He mauled Tom Henney in an impressive way, but when they put him in there with Phil Scott, the London landlord, Phil jumped up and smashed him a couple of times and was awarded the decision. Campolo's manager, Gus Leneve, had a passion for spending money for expenses it seems, such a passion in fact that only a few dollars would be left after every fight, for Campolo. This was not so good, so Victoria freighted himself back to the Argentine. Now, however, Gus has been bought out as Campolo's treasurer, in the deal by which Madison Square Garden recently gained control of the existing heavyweights. It is reported that Fugazy, who yielded up to the Garden Max Schmeling, and others he had signed on the dotted line, will become Victoria's manager, and Campolo has agreed to appear in four bouts at the Garden.

One of these bouts might well be with Carnera. This would be boxing in a big way, with a quarter ton of humanity in the ring. There seems to be no objection from a financial standpoint, either. It appears they draw at the Garden according to their size, to judge by the recent failure of the flyweights. Leon Bee, who promoted the Klutas-Carpenter battle in Paris in 1912 for the middleweight championship of the world, is Carnera's manager. Leon has been around the boxing business for a long time—too long to fail to see the possibilities of a bout with Campolo would have for his fighter. It is related that See found Carnera with a circus. He was so big that he couldn't get shoes to fit him—he wears size 21—and he had a head that was as big as a watermelon. It is a number of wise boxing observers who have seen Carnera in action say he actually can fight.

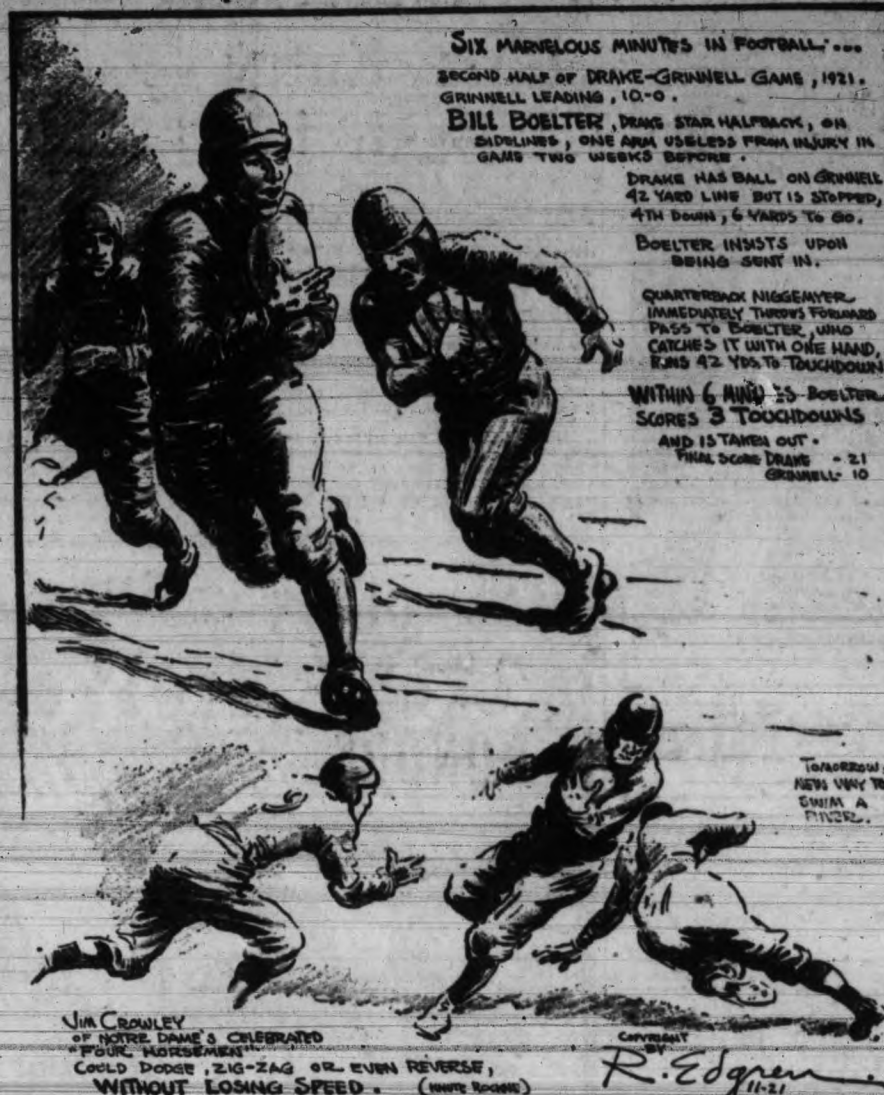

Eight promoters in many Pacific coast cities have just about given it up for a bad job unless they're fortunate enough to live in Los Angeles district, where the fans flock to see any kind of mitt-swinging contest, or San Francisco, where a few shows are staged. But as far as Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Oakland are concerned, the lid is on tight. In the state of Washington legal tangles have dropped the boxing racket for a count. In Seattle last spring a negro preliminary fighter died following a match and public officials promptly banned the sport. Fight clubs were darkened throughout the summer and this winter when one club attempted to put over a show they were summoned into court. With Seattle clubs dead, those in Portland and Tacoma automatically suffer. There has only been one show of any consequence in Tacoma in months. Portland operates under a state law that permits ten-round bouts, but a municipal commission has handicapped various promoters. San Francisco is also having its trouble, and Oakland hasn't done anything big in a fighting way since the inception of the ten-round law in California in 1923.

Having disposed of "Ace" Hadkins recently, Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion of the world, has announced his intention of competing in light-heavyweight and heavyweight divisions. He proposes to meet Tommy Loughran, the former light-heavyweight king, who was knocked out in a hurry by Jack Sharkey. But good as all as Walker has shown himself to be, he will never be a Dempsey or Tunney. He lacks a knockout punch, and it is unlikely that, under other conditions, he would be able to wear huge opponents down. Unlike the late Bob Fitzsimmons, who as middleweight won the heavy crown, Walker would be handicapped in reach and weight. It is possible that he would do well in the light-heavy division, but a good heavyweight would outclass the fighter known as "The Bulldog."

Mack Takes Second Decision From Tod In Thrilling Rally

Denver Scrapper Stages Great Comeback to Gain Call Over Junior Lightweight Champion; Now Stands Out as Fighter Who Has Beaten Champ Twice But Has No Crown to Show for It; Showing in Tenth Round Earned Decision for Mack.

Los Angeles, Nov. 27.—Petro Quintana—they call him Eddie Mack for short—to-day stands out as a fighter who twice has defeated a champion with no crown to show for his efforts. In a ten-round non-title battle before 10,000 fans last night, the former St. Regis College youth repeated a previous non-title victory over Tod Morgan, junior lightweight king, in a rousing rally which saw him win the battle in the closing period.

It was the third meeting of the pair at catchweights, with the scrapper from Denver holding two triumphs by the decision route. The second engagement terminated in a draw. Morgan looked very much like a champion in the opening stanza as he rushed Mack before him with a series of crushing rights to the head, followed by left hooks to the body. Sensing an opportunity to square accounts with his opponent, the Los Angeles scrapper followed his advantage by tearing into Mack with a two-fisted attack to the body.

Mack rallied when the fourth came up, Mack rallied to hold the champion even.

Trailing when the fourth came up, Mack rallied to hold the champion even.

Ontario Horse Wins Challenge Trophy at Show

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Red Star, owned by Donald R. Rogers, Rochester, Ont., won the international challenge cup which featured last night's programme at the Royal Winter Fair Horse Show. Second place was awarded to L. H. Cloverleaf Jr., Philadelphia, on Lord Combe, and Colonel W. F. Eaton, Oakville, won third place with Ray Mar, while Miss Ruth Cowan, Montreal, secured the fourth award with Red Tape.

The eighth and ninth, and hammered the titleholder into complete submission in the dying moments of the tenth. The rally earned him the decision for up to the tenth, the scoring stood at three rounds each, with the other three called draws. The battle was waged with Mack entering the ring three pounds over the 130-pound limit. Whatever hopes Morgan entertained of meeting Sammy Mandell in a light-weight championship bout faded into oblivion. Mack made it quite apparent that the junior lightweight titleholder is doomed to be shorn of his honors should he ever kick the crown in a championship fight, and is no fit subject to bid for the 135-pound crown. In a fast semi-windup, Sid Torres, local Filipino 118-pounder, was given the nod in a close fight with Frankie Murray of Philadelphia.

Crucial Basketball Games Are Scheduled in City League at "Y" Gym

Axioms After Scalps of Fideles; Keating Hope to Hand Foresters Setback

Three games of basketball are scheduled at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium to-night commencing at 7.30. In the first two games league leadership will be at stake, with the Axioms trying to oust the Fideles, and Keating trying to hand the Foresters their initial defeat. In the final game J.B.A.A. and Keating will tangle in a men's senior "B" fixture. The Fideles will be at full strength with Cathy Freeman and Ina Poulsen forming the forward line. Alice Taylor will jump at centre, and Iris Philbrook and Bona Macmurchie will form the last line of defence. Verna Foubles and C. Yeamans will be on the scene should any of the regulars falter. The Axioms will start Jean Anderson and Jean Milliken at forward, Bernice Penner, Ruby Bethel and Kay Preston rounding out the quintette. Nellie Aymes and Gladys Stype will be present for relief duty. In the second game the Foresters are favored to come out on the top end of the score, although plenty of action should be seen. Keating, although not the finished ball handlers their opponents are, will be in the fight right from the first whistle. The teams will be composed of the following players: Keating—S. Bates, Mitchell, Styan; Ray Kersey, Cunningham and M. Kersey. Foresters—Addie, Martin, Cann, Irving, Fennell, Regan, and Mail. In the senior "B" fixture J.B.A.A. will be endeavoring to chalk up their first win of the season in the game against Keating. The teams will be as follows: J.B.A.A.—Bull, forward; Spence, forward; Moses, centre; Wright, guard; Bain, guard; Alexander and Smith, spars. Keating—Ralph Mitchell, forward; M. Atkinson, forward; B. Marchant, centre; A. Styan, guard; and T. Mitchell, guard; P. Atkinson and F. Sutton, spars. The complete card follows: 7.30.—Women's "B" Axioms vs. Fideles. 8.15.—Men's Senior "C" Foresters vs. Keating. 9.00.—Men's Senior "B" Keating vs. J.B.A.A.

Minor League Hockey Results

Bring About More Goals But Boost List of Penalties

Whether or Not New Code Has Diminished Whistle Blowing Is Open Question; Toronto Outfights Rangers to Chalk Up Initial Victory of Season; Boston, Helpless Without Eddie Shore, Fall Before Powerful Maroons; Ottawa Continues Fine Work to Beat Detroit in Overtime.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The altered rules adopted by the National Hockey League this season have been highly successful in one of their aims, that of producing bigger scores, but whether they will accomplish the second object of reducing whistle blowing by the referees remains an open question.

So far the annoying toots for offside play apparently have been reduced to a minimum but penalties with their accompanying delays seem on the increase.

Last night's game at New York furnished one of the best examples when Toronto outfought the New York Rangers to take its first victory of the year, 4-3. The teams were fast and both defences rough. The immediate result was twenty-five penalties.

Another extreme of the possibilities appeared at Montreal where Canadiens soundly trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates by a 9-3 count. This game brought forth thirteen penalties, most of them going to Pittsburgh's desperate defence. But even these violations of the rules could not stop the "Flying Frenchmen" once they found the route to the Pirates goal.

Boston, missing the badly battered defence star, Eddie Shore, took its first defeat of the year from the Montreal Maroons, in the third of last night's games. The Bruins managed to hold off the rugged Montreal attack through most of the first half of the game, but they could not keep it up. Dave Trotter broke loose to put the Maroons ahead in the second frame, then Montreal slammed in four more counters in the third.

The Senators in an overtime game, took a 4-3 decision from Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—Ottawa's fighting Senators, plainly tired after a hard week-end schedule, maintained an undefeated record in the National Hockey League here last night by noing out the tail-end Detroit Cougars 4-3 in an overtime contest that called for action in the third period and overtime.

Cougars, battling to win their first game, were two goals behind shortly after the third period started.

The line-ups: Ottawa—Connell, Clancy, Smith, Lamb, H. Kilrea and Finnegan. Detroit—Dolson, Noble, Hicks, Goodfellow, Cooper and Kelly. Officials—Ritchie, Cleghorn.

Summary First period—No score. Second period—1, Detroit, Cooper from Goodfellow, 17; 2, Ottawa, Smith, 19.

Third period—3, Ottawa, Lamb from Touthey, 7:30; 4, Ottawa, Touthey from Grosvenor, 8:05; 5, Detroit, Hay from Connor, 9:50; 6, Detroit, Lewis from Cooper, 15:00. Overtime—7, Ottawa, Finnegan, 4:00.

Boston, Nov. 27.—The Boston Bruins, who have been soundly trounced 6-1, here last night by the speedy Montreal Maroons. The defeat was the first suffered by the world's champions this season. Shore, the Bruins' rugged defence player, painfully injured in last Saturday's game with the Maroons, was sadly missed by his teammates to-night. The defence was weak.

Boston—Thompson, Hitchman, Owen, Carson, Galbraith, Gagne, Gagner, Barry, Weiland, Mackay, Lapper and Taylor. Montreal—Benedict, Boucher, Dutton, Stewart, Selbert, Smith, Ward, Northcott, Phillips, Trotter, Wilcox and Robinson and Munro. Officials—Cooper, Smeaton and George Maillochon.

Summary First period—Maroons, Stewart from Siebert, 17:10. Second period—2, Boston, Clapper from Gainer, 7:00; 3, Montreal, Trotter, 16:57. Third period—4, Montreal, Ward, 7:10; 5, Montreal, Munro, 10:54; 6, Montreal, Northcott, 12:54; 7, Montreal, Phillips from Trotter, 17:54.

New York, Nov. 27.—Toronto's Maple Leafs scored their first victory of the season in the International Hockey League last night, defeating the New York Rangers, 4-3, in a rough struggle. The defeat cost the Rangers a chance to take first place in the American group as the leaders, the Boston Bruins, were also defeated.

The line-ups: Rangers—Roach, Bourgeois, Johnson, Boucher, W. Cook and F. Cook. Toronto—Chabot, Day, Horner, Primeau, Conacher and Cotton. Ranger subs—Thompson, Murdoch, Keeling, Foster, Quenneville, Vail and Goldworthy. Toronto subs—Fettinger, Grant, McBride, Brydson, Smith, Duncan, Blair, Bailey and Cox. Referees—Bert Corbeau and Red McKenzie.

Summary First period—Rangers, Stewart from Siebert, 17:10. Second period—2, Boston, Clapper from Gainer, 7:00; 3, Montreal, Trotter, 16:57. Third period—4, Montreal, Ward, 7:10; 5, Montreal, Munro, 10:54; 6, Montreal, Northcott, 12:54; 7, Montreal, Phillips from Trotter, 17:54.

Great Britain and Italy To Both Issue Challenge For Harmsworth Trophy

New York, Nov. 27.—Great Britain and Italy both plan to challenge for the Harmsworth motorboat speed trophy, now held by the United States, next year.

J. Lee Barrett of Detroit said upon his return from the Harmsworth Motor Yachting Union that Sir Bruce Segrave, British holder of the straightaway automobile speed record, as well as Bigby Castells of England, and two Italians, Prince Carlo Bonaparte of Venice and Marquis Dalponte of Milan, expect to be entered in the Harmsworth races at Detroit next August.

Gar Wood, present holder of the trophy, and possibly James Tebb of Los Angeles, will defend the cup for the United States.

THRILLS ARE APLENTY AT BOWIE TRACK

Hacky H. Wins Bell Grove Purse to Reward Backers With $36.00

Balko in Slashing Victory to Equal Track Record For Six Furlongs

Bowie, Md., Nov. 27.—While the favorites faced a little better than usual, there were still plenty of upsets for the fall racing crowd that attended Bowie yesterday. The racing public received its first setback in the running of the Bell Grove purse, a seven furlong sprint for two-year-olds. Hacky H. was first to pay off, the Goldsmith's Farm's Hacky H. second, and we then third, with Brooming Thru fourth. The second race was a sweepstakes for colts and geldings, with a slashing victory in the George town. Balko was the favorite, but the surprise came in the manner in which he defeated the six furlong race. Balko was 111, equalling the track record. Following Balko's sensational performance, A. W. Wentz's Farmer proceeded to set a new record for the six furlong race, with a time of 1:11.30. Balko was second and Brooming Thru third, with the favorite Larchmont and Earl fourth. MANY BLUE BLOODS GO AT AUCTION

Records Expected to Go By Board at Annual Old Glory Horse Sale

Topknot Sells For $4,100, Top Price So Far; 421 Horses Offered

New York, Nov. 27.—The rap of the auctioneer's gavel echoing through the huge Squadron A Armory yesterday marked the change in ownership of 145 trotters and the inauguration of the thirty-fifth annual Old Glory horse sale.

Yearlings, which in another year will be vying with each other for the rich harness purses of the grand circuit, went under the hammer for prices varying from $50 to $4,000. While the consignment to the historic Old Glory auction totals a smaller number of horses than the big sale has catalogued in recent years, several records are expected to fall before the last of the 421 horses are sold Thursday night.

Already the famed Calumet breeding farm of Lexington, Ky., in its way to a new record, having disposed of the first half of its consignment for an average of $680 a head. Thirty-two yearlings from the second largest breeding farm in America sold for $21,770. The remainder of the sixty-one yearlings and five two-year-olds will be auctioned off to-morrow.

PAY BIG PRICES

Two Indiana sportsmen—E. Stout of Muncie and A. MacDonald of Indianapolis, paid the top price of $3,000 each for two of the Calumet farm trotters. Stout laid that amount on the table for Calumet, a son of Mr. McElwain and My Rosebud, while MacDonald purchased Calumet Bush by Pluto-Sumatra. Both of the high-priced colts were foaled in 1928. Calumet Bush was the third highest of the lot disposed of by the Blue Grass state breeding farm, going to Mr. Haines of New York, Pa., for $2,100.

On the basis of initial sales, however, the Walnut Farm, also of Lexington, but owned by Ogden M. Edwards Jr., of Pittsburgh may outdo its Kentucky rival. The Walnut Farm, ranking as the leading breeding stable of the country for harness horses, consigned seventy-eight trotters to the sale, the first half of which were disposed of yesterday.

With a price of $4,100 on his head, Topknot a bay colt by Guy Aworthy-Judson Girl, topped the early sales.

FIGHTERS ARE GIVEN "BREAK"

N.Y. Commission Will Allow Champions to Fight Without Defending Titles

New York, Nov. 27.—The spirit of Christmas was in the air yesterday as the New York State athletic commission prepared a surprise gift package for the boxing business.

Still a bit hesitant about details, the commissioners announced that with a week or two of official announcement would be made that in the future fight-champions would be permitted to box in New York State occasionally without having to defend their titles every time they step within a ring. For years one of the most rigid of all commission rules has been the edict that a champion must fight here only at title weight and with his crown in jeopardy.

The commission is firm, however, in its determination to force champions to defend their titles against worthy challengers at least twice a year.

The commission decided yesterday that the defeat of Maxie Rosenbloom by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo Monday night removed the slapstick star from the ranks of the "big four," named to fight for the vacant 175-pound title.

keen interest, encourage players to practice diligently, and in every way helps raise the standard of play.

The annual invitation tournament held each April at the Granite Club, Toronto, attracts an entry list second only to the Canadian championships, and is called the Eastern Canadian championship tournament, so popular is the event with players in the east.

Slattery now takes his place with Yale Okun, Lou Scosza, and George Courtney as the battlers who must fight it out for recognition here as the new light-heavyweight champion.

Bowling

Colonist Types again bowed before superior bowlers when they ran up against the Huskies in the Pilepin fixture played at the Arcade Alley last night. George Wilkinson, of the Huskies, helped his team to gain victory in three straight games by taking individual games and aggregate laurels with totals of 323 and 802 respectively.

The Colonist Compo, led by the Colonist Scribes down to defeat by the odd game in the other fivepin match of the evening. Bert Pickup, of the Compo, led the scores with totals of 278 and 607 respectively.

In the Commercial League, Colonist Want-Ads smashed down the pine to take James Island, league leaders, into camp in three straight games.

With 201 and 517 pins to his credit in the individual game and aggregate classes respectively, Jimmy Rowe, skipper for the Huskies, led the bowlers.

Bill Robertson First Entry For Dash In Harbor

Has Competed in Four Races and Carried Off Prize Each Time; Will Make Determined Try for Harbord Cup This Year; Bill Findlay Expected to Defend Honors; Pollard Girls and Louheed Other Probable Entries.

The weatherman's prediction of an extremely cold winter has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of hardy Victoria swimmers for the annual Christmas Day swim to be staged by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club. W. T. M. Barrett, secretary of the club, expressed the opinion that the festive season race would be held as usual in the Inner Harbor and there would be a heavy entry.

RIDERS OFF IN QUEST OF HONORS

Western Canada Rugby Champs Left To-day For Game With Hamilton

Regina, Nov. 27.—Invading the stronghold of Mike Rodden's Hamilton Tigers Saturday the Regina Roughriders will make another bid for Dominion football honors. They also will attempt to enter the famous Bengals to journey westward early next fall for an exhibition series with prairie teams.

Twenty strong, the Riders headed for the east this morning, arriving in Hamilton Friday morning. Nineteen riders are ready to do battle with the bruising eastern Bengals, the twentieth—"Dynamite" Eddie James—is willing to try, but he may not get more than a few minutes in the fray. An injured shoulder, suffered in the western final against Calgary, has kept James out of practice and it may keep him away from the Riders.

Regina officials will propose to Tiger management that the eastern outfit make a tour of the prairies next fall, playing at Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary. The Bengals last played in the west in 1921.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Having come through their game with Queen's University last Saturday without any injuries recorded Hamilton Tigers, eastern Canada football champions, started practicing yesterday for the game with Regina Roughriders for the Canadian title.

A feature of Tiger practice this week will be the perfection of the modified forward pass which will be used in Saturday's game.

New York, Nov. 27.—The executive committee of the United States Golf Association by unanimous vote has declined to approve payment of expenses of players representing state and sectional teams. This decision was made public unexpectedly yesterday following a hearing on the issue recently.

Under the policy of the U.S.G.A. expenses of amateur golfers may be paid or contributed to in connection with only three competitions. Walker Cup matches, public links championship and college golf teams.

FOLLERIN' THE BAND

WHO hasn't "foller'd" the band up Main street, or up Broadway or Michigan boulevard? Heart pumping joyously, feet beating the ground in time! Grandly intoxicating moment of childhood!

And—later in life—who hasn't felt a thrill as the conductor lifted his baton for the overture to begin? A moment pregnant with the glamour of the theatre! Music casts its spell throughout all the Ages of Man.

It is wise then, in this enlightened and prosperous day to countenance substitution of a shadow of music for the real thing in the theatre? Imagine the Irish following a Music Box on St. Patrick's Day! Or fife and drum music by a Machine on Memorial Day! Incongruous? Of course, but not more so than a mechanical overture in the theatre.

Talking pictures—a new dramatic form; the radio—which transmits music directly and DOES reflect the artist's mood of the moment; the phonograph in the home—where living music usually is not available—are not at issue here. We are discussing only the SUBSTITUTION OF MECHANICAL MUSIC FOR REAL MUSIC IN THE THEATRE. In consequence of which Real Music is being eliminated in theatre.

OUR WATERFRONT

To the Editor:—The suggestions for the "improvements" to the park waterfront, as set forth in a Colonist editorial this morning will seem strange indeed to anyone who has any appreciation of the very unusual charms which this portion of our park poses, and it is fervently to be hoped that they will never be acted upon.

Anything in the nature of a rink or auditorium would completely ruin the natural beauties of this place. It is to get away from such "improvements" (see English Bay, Vancouver) that people come to Victoria.

The foreshore from Menzies Street to Clover Point is one of the few places where the wild flowers thrive on a place property. In the spring this spot is one of the loveliest bits of Victoria, especially since the autos have completely devastated the ground above Horseshoe Bay.

Instead of parking spaces being made of these places, autos should be strictly prohibited from encroaching on the grass at all, for there is plenty of space along the road round the hill for them. Surely the race hasn't reached the stage where a walk of fifty yards is a hardship. Mr. Litchfield's idea of a rink in the neighborhood of the Gold Storage is excellent.

All that Beacon Hill needs is a better supervision to prevent rubbish dumping, both on sea and land, a good supply of seats, and a watchful eye kept on the encroaching broom, and it will remain one of the most delightful places on the Coast.

FIVE-HOUR DAY

To the Editor:—It is refreshing to note in last Thursday's Times that Atlas has so speedily relinquished his five-day week—the scorn that was to grow to a mighty oak. His five-hour day scheme is much better, though not as good as the three-day week, such day to consist of eight hours instead of ten. For one thing it would be too costly and inconvenient to change the workers every five hours throughout the week; another thing, it would impose a straight ten-hour day upon quite a number of workers who, we may as well admit at the outset, could not be changed around at such short notice—door walkers, foremen, shippers in the lumber yards, managers and so on. Industries and employers are paying wages on a forty-four or forty-eight hour basis, and just making the grade. Atlas's scheme would inflict a sixty-hour wage bill right off the bat. Few could stand the increase. Therefore, the three-day week until time mends, and they might mend so quickly as to surprise us.

The first thing to do is to get all the married women whose husbands are earning or will earn under the scheme right off the job; and this applies especially to the younger generation who take a few days for the so-called honeymoon—then back on the job. There are hundreds such; and it is a marvel that Canadian citizens continue to employ them. The stores would be wide open six days a week (a blessing in itself) and all would have at least some money to spend, and some leisure in which to spend it. Each worker to give an undertaking not to work, at least for profit, during his leisure hours.

Any union man who replaced a non-union man would be required to relinquish his holier-than-thou attitude. He is neither better nor worse—at least we hope not. It may happen that some of us will have to spend our three days repairing the ravages of some of these lads. But there must be no firing, except of course as regards our janitors, steam engineers and so forth.

WALTER POSTER.
Colquitz, B.C., November 21, 1929.

STICK TO THE CASH PRINCIPLE

To the Editor:—Whilst opposing the system of borrowing for ordinary street improvements in the city, I do heartily support the method of carrying out a definite, recognized plan of public works each year. A reasonable proportion of new work should be done.
Merely to do repair work is unfair to the waiting neglected citizens in the outskirts and is not even marking time. There are wooden sidewalks in many portions of the residential sections that are rotten and unsafe; and many sections of streets impossible for traffic. Each year should have a definite amount set apart for permanent work in the sections recommended by the City Engineer.

This year there has been marked neglect. An ominous shaking of the head has met every demand for progress. "No provision in the estimates" is the "don't care" phrase by which proposals for progress are turned down;
and at the same time other favored expenditures slip through.

As I did not want the 1929 Council to go down to posterity, as the "Do-nothing" Council, I suggested that the first important new work to be adopted
this year should be the Pandora Avenue improvement from Fort Street to Cook Street; or as much as could be carried out this year. A chorus of "Noes" settled the question, and the "Bumpy-bumps" of the road will probably cause considerable language of a choleric kind to be used—such language becoming hotter as the winter grows wetter and colder.

I should have heartily supported any other equally useful public work in the city, recommended by the engineering department. Let your readers look at Cook Street, the "Dardanelles" from Pembroke Street, Cedar Hill Road, Caledonia Avenue, and innumerable portions of other streets for improvements of which taxpayers have patiently waited for 20 years without redress. Sidewalks—the safety valve for the pedestrian and especially for children—are urgently needed. Yet the inevitable no-funds reply turns any proposals down, and my collar button is strained to its utmost tension in indignation.

Borrow, borrow, borrow, is the only alternative, according to bond issuing advocates; which translated into streets and sidewalks, means that in due process of time one street or sidewalk will be built, where by "paying as you go," three streets or sidewalks could be built.

Hence, I oppose borrowing, whilst supporting progress. It is well that the citizens should know that the mill rate has steadily increased since the borrowing system was undertaken.
I may explain that I frankly acknowledge that very large expenditures, such as the four or five millions for water purposes, and other undertakings of this character would probably call for loans of a moderate character as to rate of interest, time of loan, and general financial outlook.
Revenue producing works—such as the Market Building, boulevards, sewers, cemetery and waterworks, can be defended, but non-revenue work should be usually put in the class of "pay as you go."

The Mayor's suggested $1,000,000 loan did not draw a chorus of applause, and it appears to have died an unnatural death, but streets, roads and sidewalks are urgently needed. Why do not the advocates of borrowing submit their proposals to the ratepayers, or support a moderate programme of public improvements?

Fannie Kemble Liked Bread and Water
Diet

Little Fannie Kemble had been very naughty. Her mother, to punish her, shut her up in her own little room and made her stay there alone, all day.
At noon she was given only some bread and water. Her mother did not like to punish her so severely, but Fannie was sometimes hard to manage.

She was very quiet in her room.
She did not cry or pound on the door and ask to be let out. As the afternoon wore on, her mother began to feel that the little girl had been punished enough, and that she should be allowed to come downstairs and play.
Besides, she missed her gay little daughter, who was always making up
"just pretend" games in which her mother joined.

So the mother went upstairs and opened the door. Fannie sat by the window, her chin in her hands, looking out. "You may come out," said her mother gently.

"Oh, mother!" cried Fannie. "I've been having the most fun! I've been playing that I am a prisoner of war!"
Fannie Kemble, born in London 120 years ago today, became one of the great actresses of history.

DUNNING IS IN NEW CABINET POST TO-DAY

National Railways financing and this subject Mr. Dunning had well in hand.
On the other hand, it would be too much to expect Mr. Dunning to administer two departments during the session of Parliament. Therefore his term as Acting Minister of Railways would terminate before the session opened.

PROGRAMME MAPPED
The Cabinet meeting yesterday was the first held since Premier King's return from his western tour. Mr. King, stating the Government hoped to meet Parliament by the end of January or early in February, said the Cabinet's discussion had been partly devoted to preparations for the coming session.
It was hoped to have the sessional programme in good shape so little delay would occur after the members arrived in Ottawa.

DISCUSSION OF ESTIMATES
Mr. King was asked if the Government proposed to have the estimates taken up by a committee of the House, as had been suggested frequently in the past. He replied the Government last session had indicated a desire to have that done, but Parliament had taken a different view.

He was asked if the Government would bring down legislation to provide for the establishment of divorce courts in Ontario, but declined to make any statement. Divorce legislation would be considered when the sessional legislative programme was under way, he said, but announcement of the legislative programme was generally made in the Speech from the Throne.

The holding of an Empire economic conference, and when and where such a conference would take place, were still matters of negotiation between the Government of Canada and other parts of the Empire, said Premier King. Canada hoped an economic conference would be held here, but nothing had been decided.

When informed certain London dispatches were stating the next Imperial Conference would be held in Ottawa,
the Prime Minister remarked:
"That's the first I've heard of it."

NOT AS IN U.S.
The Prime Minister was asked if he was considering similar measures to those taken by President Hoover, who had held conferences with leaders to stabilize business in the United States.
Mr. King replied he thought the possibility of Canada was about the best of any country in the world. He intimated

DR. F. P. KEPPEL LIBRARY EXPERT WILL VISIT CITY

President of Corporation Controlling Enormous Trust Funds

Sum of $100,000 Was Placed at Disposal of B.C. Commission

Frederick Paul Keppel, Ph.D., LL.D., Litt. D., who will arrive in Victoria Sunday morning on the Empress of Canada, is one of the outstanding educationalists of the world to-day.

As president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, he, with the other directors, controls the expenditure of the enormous trust funds left by the late Andrew Carnegie for the advancement of learning and development of social work.

During his life time Mr. Carnegie's benefaction amounted to $218,000,000 of which $60,000,000 was spent in erecting free public library buildings. In Canada library buildings were presented to 106 cities at a total cost of $3,000,000.

TO ISOLATED DISTRICTS

After Mr. Carnegie's death in 1918, the administration of the funds passed into the hands of the Corporation and the general policy changed. The emphasis is now placed on the extension of reading facilities to those living in rural and isolated districts rather than on the erection of buildings as in the past. Under the administration of the Corporation is a trust fund of $10,000,000 the interest of which is to be spent in the advancement of education and library extension throughout the British Dominion.

Two years ago Dr. Keppel went to South Africa to learn in what way the Corporation could assist in solving some of the educational problems which confront that Dominion. The result was that last year a five-year programme was launched there which includes grants to the art departments of one college and two universities, the Jeanes Schools for the South African native and a survey of library conditions. Since then plans have been formulated for extending library service throughout the country.

British Columbia with its immense area and scattered population, appeared to the Corporation as a particularly promising province in which to develop a certain type of rural and semi-rural library service. Accordingly in 1927 a grant was made to cover expenses of conducting a library survey throughout the Province. At the annual meeting of the Corporation in September a sum of $100,000 was placed at the disposal of the Library Commission to-day contracted conditions in the Red River settlement with what they were fifty years ago.

When I arrived in Winnipeg in 1879, we came as far as St. Boniface on the railway," Mr. Dodds said. "From there we had to leave the train and walk the rest of the way to Winnipeg."

With Mr. Dodds here is Robert Harkirk, grain grower of the Neepawa district, 170 miles west of Winnipeg. He came out as a settler in 1882. He has been attending the Grain Growers' message in Regina on his way out to the coast.

"We have to admit that the wheat pool is taking a big chance this year," Mr. Harkirk said. "At the moment, the pool is facing a crisis. If the pool gets away with this gamble it will be a great boom for it, but if it fails it is going to mean a bad setback not only for it but for the country. The danger arises from the fact that it is almost impossible for one group of producers to hold up the wheat supply of the whole world in order to force the buyers to pay higher prices."

While in Victoria, Mr. Dodds and Mr. Harkirk are looking up John Allan and his wife, who now live here on Walter Street. Mr. Allan was one of the 1879 pioneers of Winnipeg.

WHEAT POOL NOW FACES CRISIS ON BIGGEST GAMBLE

Prairie Pioneers Here To-day Also Tell of Arriving in Winnipeg in 1879

Jack Dodds, Winnipeg pioneer, who is now on a holiday here at the Dominion Hotel, to-day contrasted conditions in the Red River settlement with what they were fifty years ago.

When I arrived in Winnipeg in 1879, we came as far as St. Boniface on the railway," Mr. Dodds said. "From there we had to leave the train and walk the rest of the way to Winnipeg."

Order Made By Chief Justice; Mill to Continue Operation

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—On the application of F. G. T. Lucas, K.C., who appeared for unsecured creditors with claims aggregating $85,000, Chief Justice Morrison in the B.C. Supreme Court to-day made a receiving order in bankruptcy against the Sproat Lake Lumber Company Limited and appointed the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited a receiver of its properties, which include sawmills at Sproat Lake and timber limits on Vancouver Island.

At the same time Reginald Symes, counsel for the Royal Trust Company, sought the appointment of a receiver of the Sproat Lake Lumber Company's assets in an action to enforce a $100,000 debenture issue. Although the chief justice made this order also, he left open until Thursday morning the question as to whether Albert MacFarlane, lumberman, should be appointed receiver for the bondholders.

Although bankruptcy and receivership proceedings have been instituted, it is the intention of the parties to continue in operation the sawmill, which employs 150 men.

Mr. Bird stated his client, Mrs. Colman, owned 100,000 shares in the lumber company.

Dear Sir— I know that there is a Santa Claus because he brings me everything I ask for.

Dear Mr. Editor. Your problem how we children know there is a Santa is a very hard one, but I know there is one somewhere, and I hope that Captain Kleinschmidt will find his home at the North Pole. I will tell you how I know there is one. Last year I went with Mother to Hudson Bay Store and seen him, and I ask him for a Teddy Bear, and he pulled me close to him, and whispered something to Mother, and I heard what they said, but I want say here, but I saw Santa and I got my Teddy on Xmas morning.

Dear Editor— I know there must be a real kind man called Santa Claus, that just comes out Christmas time, because we all ask for so many things & Mummy & Dad couldn't buy them all at once & each Christmas eve when we hang our stockings up, Mummy leaves a cup of Hot Cocoa for him.

Dear editor

Why I know there is a Santa Claus is because every year he comes and leaves me nice toys but last year he could not come to my home so he left a little note and some toys on "Soplie Carriers" Xmas tree and she fetched them and said Santa left them for me.

I am aged 7 name Lily Fletcher

Dear Mr. Editor.

Why I think there is a Santa Claus is because every Christmas I go down to the Hudson Bay and tell Santa what I want for Christmas. And on Christmas morning when I wake up I always find what I ask for. One Christmas eve I stayed awake a long time, and all of a sudden, I heard footsteps. Someone came into my room. It was Santa. One night I was up late, I was just going to bed when I heard someone. I saw a bit of red. It was Santa. So I am very sure there is a Santa Claus.

Dear Editor:

I know there is a Santa Claus because a long time ago there lived a man by the name of Saint Nicholas who used to put money in the key-holes silver under the doors of the poor people. After he had died his spirit came to earth every 24th of December and he comes down chimneys and gives everybody presents, and fills up our stockings and puts presents on the Christmas trees.

Jonny Cochran age 10 years

Dear Editor.

There must be a "Santa Claus" or we would not get any presents when we hang up our stockings on Christmas Eve. And sometimes we put something out for Santa to eat before he comes on with his journey. And if there wasn't any "how would he be known all over the world." Sometimes I have seen him in a store giving presents to every one.

He lives at the "North Pole" and comes down as far as he can with his reindeer and sled and then he gets into a car and comes around to our houses bringing the presents.

Yours Sincere Friend Hilda Richardson

Dear Santa Claus Editor

I know there is a Santa Claus because he comes to my house every year and I have seen him the other years I have watched in the paper when he has left the North Pole and how he comes so far each day and then at last landed in Victoria one year after he arrived in Victoria he called my name out in the Capitol Theater and asked me what I would like for Christmas also I have shaken hands with him lots of times, and when you shake hands with people you know they are real.

And now dear Editor I hope you will have a very happy Christmas.

Dear Mr. Editor.

The reason why I believe in Santa Claus is because I hang up my stocking every Christmas Eve. & in the morning it is full with everything I have asked him at Spencer's and Hudsons Bay store, and he always speaks to me and asks me if I've been a good little girl. I hope I will see him again this year.

Why I believe in Santa Claus— I believe in Santa Claus because each Christmas I have visited him in Victoria and told him what I wanted the most.

He has never failed to disappoint me. If he could not bring me quite what I asked for he has brought me something just as good and then left a message for me to say how sorry he was.

Mummy says there is a Santa Claus and the Victoria Daily Times says so. And they would not print what is not true.

Dear Sir— I know there is a Santa Claus because he brings me the presents I ask for.

I heard him talking over the radio himself before he came to Victoria. I left him some cookies on a plate and they were gone in the morning.

He left a letter saying he liked the cookies very much, and he was very hungry, and he left some figs too. I saw him in Spencer's.

I like Santa Claus very much.

Dear Editor

Why I know there is a Santa Claus is because he brings toys to good boys and girls everywhere I have seen him in Victoria, and he had a long white beard and a red coat. And he brings me the things I ask for. And one year he brought me a wagon and a foot ball and I had lots of fun with them. I hope I will see him this year again.

Leslie Lamb Age 8

Dear Editor:

I know there is a Santa Claus because one Christmas Mother heard his bag against the wall, and anyway one Christmas I left some cookies and milk and in the morning they were gone.

And I didn't know whether it was Santa who got them or a mouse, so next Christmas I left some more and he left me a note saying he got the nice lunch and he left a nice doll-bed and doll.

And I went to see Santa in the Hudson Bay and asked him if he would leave me a table and chairs and in the morning they were there. I am sure if every little girl and boy had as many nice toys left them by Santa they would be better off than I am.

I think Santa is a pretty good old scout and especially having to go through all the snow and cold.

Dear Santa Claus Editor.

I know there is a Santa Claus because when I was a little girl about four years of age my mother took me to Hudson Bay. A Santa Claus asked me what I wanted I told him a Kiltie doll and he said I was the only little girl in Victoria who had asked him for a Kiltie doll and I would surely get it. And I did. I asked him for some skates. To one day after I had told him, Santa sent me a letter to tell me I was too small for them but would get them when I was older, and he didn't forget. Another reason I know there is a Santa Claus is because he fills our stockings and decorates the Xmas tree. If there was no Santa we would not have such jolly fun.

I am going to tell you why I believe there is a Santa Claus.

Last year Hilda and I went to see Santa Claus at Spencer's. We told him we had a new baby brother. He said what would you like me to bring your baby brother? Hilda said, oh he just loves red jelly.

Does a Widow
Make a Good Wife?

Dorothy Dix

The Best Risk in Matrimony Is the Widow, Who Brings to Her Second Marriage All the Diplomacy and Household Efficiency That She Was Forced to Acquire in Her First

A MAN wants to know what sort of wife a widow makes. The best, son, the best. A widow is always a preferred matrimonial risk. Experience in matrimony counts as it does in everything else, and the woman who has had a husband is pleasanter to get along with and easier to live with even if she isn't actually a better wife than the maiden who has never been married at all. This is true whether the woman is a sad widow or a grass widow. The woman who has lost her husband by death puts into her treatment a lot of the remorse she felt when she looked down through her tears into a coffin and thought how much more tender, how much more loving and considerate she could have been as a wife, while the divorced woman has learned the lesson of her failure and found out that when a husband strays off or gets stolen it is nearly always because the wife has been guilty of contributory negligence.

Hence, she is determined to keep the new one eating out of her hand if being a good wife will turn the trick.

There are as many reasons why a widow makes a better wife than a young girl as there are reasons why a professional wins out in a game over an amateur. To begin with, she is a better picker than the girl. She has cut her wisdom teeth on a wedding ring and she knows what qualities to look out for in the man with whom she proposes to live the balance of her life. That is why second wives nearly always wear a more contented expression than first wives do.

The young girl chooses a man for a husband because he is a sheik or because he has soulful eyes or because he has a keen line of love-making or because he is a peachy dancer. She never gives a thought to his temper and disposition or even his ability to make a living.

The widow has found out that all of these extraneous charms are a wash-out in matrimony. Therefore, when she marries again she selects a man for a husband because he is good-natured and dependable and generous and because she has found out that they have the same taste in everything from politics to pie and because he has some settled, steady way of supporting a family. She doesn't care a rap whether he is bald-headed and bay-windowed or a glib love-maker or not. She knows the desirable husband is the man who says it with his checkbook and who is a fireside companion whose wife doesn't have to always keep her eye upon him.

The widow makes a soothing and agreeable wife because she doesn't expect too much of a man. It is a bitter day for the husband as well as for the bride when she finds out that she is married to a mere man instead of to a devoted one and he is made to realize how far short he comes of being the hero of her girlish dreams. The widow has been through all this and has scrapped her impossible ideals. She learned about men from her first husband and found out that even the best of them have their little faults and weaknesses and zigzag now and then off of the straight and narrow path.

So she has learned how to take her husband with humor and philosophy and to shut her eyes to what she doesn't want to see and to laugh at his foibles instead of having hysterics over them. Above all, she takes her husband "as is," as the shipping manifests say, and doesn't try to make him over. And this saves a lot of wear and tear on a man's vanity.

Also, the widow has developed a technique in handling a husband. The reason that so many young couples scrap and quarrel and go to the mat over every question that comes up is because of the raw way in which brides go about managing their husbands. They argue about everything. They present ultimatums. They tell unkind truths. They trample roughshod over their husbands' idiosyncrasies. They bump their peck, little, silly heads against every wall.

Not so the widow. She studies her man until she has a good working map of all his tastes and habits and little peculiarities and she walks warily among the pitfalls. She keeps off his prejudices. She never rises him by disputing his assertions or correcting his statements. She picks the psychological moment when he is fed and rested to present bills and tell him that mother is coming for a nice long visit. She jolies him along the way she wants him to go instead of trying to drive him into it, and she skips nimbly around his eccentricities instead of breaking her heart crashing against them.

Furthermore, the man who marries a widow saves his stomach and his pocketbook from the hazardous experiment of a blundering bride. Most young girls know nothing of either cooking or handling money when they get married, and by the time they have learned how to cook a meal that isn't a first aid to the coroner and how to get a hundred cents out of a dollar, they have given their unfortunate husbands chronic dyspepsia and brought them to the verge of bankruptcy.

The second husband reaps the reward of the first husband's sufferings. For No. 2 there are no tough steaks, no leathery pie crusts, no leaden biscuits, no wasteful buying. The widow has not only learned her trade of housewife on her first husband, but she has also learned that if a woman wants to keep her husband happy and contented she must feed the brute.

Finally, the widow makes a good wife because she goes into her second marriage more soberly, more intelligently, more determined to make a good wife than she did when she married the first time. When a young girl marries she thinks only of her husband making her happy. When a woman marries the second time she knows that if her marriage is a success that she has to do most of the work of making it one, and so she brings to it a patience, a wisdom, a self-control and an unselfishness that it takes life and suffering to teach.

KOOTENAY TOWNS USE LESS WATER DURING SHORTAGE

Nelson, B.C., Nov. 27.—West Kootenay cities are experiencing a water shortage due to the dry fall. On Saturday last the Cottonwood Creek main was cut into the Nelson system to bring the level in the reservoir high enough to supply the city's needs. In Roseland so low has the water level become that the water is being rationed. Water will flow through the mains for but an hour a day. This will tend to conserve the supply in case of emergency.

Nelson's water supply comes from Five-Mile Creek, but the flow of that creek has dropped to as low as 2.02 cubic feet a second. As a result the reservoir was less than half full. The Cottonwood main, which liked up, is an old main formerly used by the city. The city engineer brought the seriousness of the situation to the attention of the city council.

CORBIN COALS SALE IS MADE

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Sale of the properties of Corbin Coals Limited at Corbin, near Fernie, for $909,007, to Sherwood Lett, Vancouver barrister, was made today by J. F. Mather, B.C. Paine, of Spokane, trustees for holders of debentures totaling $850,000. Action was instituted following default by the company in payment of interest on October 1. Mr. Lett paid the $909,007 with debentures and the balance with cash.

Brown secretary-treasurer. "Nite Hocs" was the name adopted by the club and fortnightly meetings will be held.

Cards and an interesting contest were enjoyed and refreshments served by Mrs. and Miss Ada Simpson.

An important meeting will be held in St. Matthew's Church on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. Everyone interested in the welfare of the church is urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Shaw and sons from Regina are staying at Bon Accord Langford Lake.

Under the supervision of Mrs. S. Reynolds a meeting of the Girl Guides was held Friday afternoon. One new recruit from Goldstream was welcomed. The Guides are busy practicing to pass some of their second class tests in the near future. Games and singing concluded the meeting.

Miss Cecily Bennett of Langford Lake, has been spending a few days in Victoria visiting Miss Verlyn Lawson, Cowichan Street.

A card party will be held in the Institute Hall on Wednesday evening at 8 p.m.

LOWLAND WOLF ENDS TO-NIGHT

Martin Harvey's New Vehicle to Conclude Showing at Royal

For the latest success, which will be presented to-night for the last time at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Sir Martin Harvey has gone to the modern Spanish. The title is "The Lowland Wolf". From the pen of Angel Guimera, the play presents to Sir John a remarkable chance to show talents that have not been altogether displayed on his recent Canadian tours. He takes the part of Manelich, a shepherd of the mountains. The play has been translated into twenty-one languages, and so powerful an appeal has been made by Manelich to the Spanish people that he holds rank with Hamlet. This will be the first time this epochal Spanish play has been seen here, and it is one of the most popular in which Sir John has ever appeared.

To-morrow and for the balance of the week, with a matinee again on Saturday Sir John will offer for the last time in Victoria what is considered one of his greatest plays: "The Only Way," which has won so deep a place in the affections of Canadian playgoers. There is little need to dilate upon the performance of Sir John Martin-Harvey as the disolute Sydney Garton, who lays down his life for the lady he loves. But probably all those who have not seen the play, and also all those who have already seen it, will be present at these farewell performances during the present Canadian Tour. Miss de Silva will appear in her original part of Mimi, and Sir John has with him a particularly strong company, which includes many favorites who have already made themselves popular in the Dominion.

Telling the truth! He had done it all his life, and things always seemed to go wrong for him, while all around him he saw liars and grafters succeeding. Nevertheless, he had persisted in remaining true to his father's teachings, impressed upon his mind from earliest infancy.

Now, if he lied, he would keep the first decent job he had ever enjoyed. He thought of his sweetheart and the predicament in which she would find herself if he exposed the truth. He looked at his kindly, though triscent, old employer and thought of the beautiful, foolish wife whom his words would save or condemn, and of

SILLS STUDIED FLORA OF HAWAII WHILE ON LOCATION THERE

Milton Silks devoted considerable time to a study of the flora of Hawaii, while there with Dorothy Mackall for scenes in the first National picture "His Captive Woman," which is showing at the Columbia Theatre. Silks is a devotee of floriculture and was in his element while in the "Sandwich Islands."

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA PLAYS MELODIES FOR "BROADWAY"

Gus Arnheim and his famous orchestra, long the stimulus to many thousands of tripping feet at the Coconut Grove, Los Angeles, has made the goal of every big time act in the world—Broadway.

Broadway, New York—but still his following at the Grove will keep on dancing to his witching waiters. For Gus and his band found "Broadway" on the Universal lot, to be exact, in the Paradise Night Club, the largest set on the largest stage ever built in Hollywood, where the sensationally successful play was filmed both in sound and silent versions by Carl Laemmle, Jr., associate producer. "Broadway" is showing all this week at the Capitol Theatre.

LONG SEARCH MADE FOR CHINESE WITH QUEUE FOR FILM

Harold Lloyd had a sequence in "Welcome Danger," his first of the sound era, which called for a Chinaman with an old-fashioned queue. This could have been found, perhaps, but Lloyd always insists on the real thing.

Search of Los Angeles failed to reveal one. If seems Chinamen can go to their ceiling and now even if their heads are shaved. Then the entire Pacific Coast was scoured, and at last in San Francisco, there was found the last adherent to the Pacific slope to the custom of China before she joined the republic.

Wang Lee is his name, he is sixty-five years old, and during the filming of "Welcome Danger" he got his first trip to Los Angeles or any place seen in a first class Occidental railroad train.

The picture is showing at the Dominion Theatre all this week. It is Lloyd's first all-talking film.

WILL PRESENT SEVEN PLAYS

Stratford-upon-Avon Company to Open With "Much Ado About Nothing"

At the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday evening the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company from the Shakespeare memorial Theatre, will begin an engagement presenting a series of seven Shakespeare plays in the order named: Monday evening, December 2, "Much ado about nothing"; Tuesday evening, December 3, "Romeo and Juliet"; Wednesday matinee, December 4, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Wednesday evening, December 4, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, December 5, "Hamlet"; Friday evening, December 6, "Twelfth Night"; Saturday matinee, December 7, "Macbeth"; Saturday evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

It will be seen that this group of plays offers a very wide variety in comedy, history, romance and tragedy, and therefore it will bring forward the important members of the organization in strongly contrasting roles. Nearly all of the players that will be seen this year were members of the organization when it appeared at the Royal Victoria Theatre a year ago. Those who will be especially remembered are George Hayes, Wilfrid Walter, Roy Byford, Eric Mason, Joyce Hland and Mary Holder. Added to these in the company this season are Fella Drake, a young actress who has recently won high favor with London audiences, William Calvert, an old Stratfordian who was here years ago with Sir Frank Benson; Olive Walter, who has played intermittently at Stratford, and Dorothy Fennell, who, though a newcomer to the Stratford Company, has made a name for herself on the British stage.

One of the most gripping sequences of "Behind That Curtain," Fox Movie's all-talking production of Earl Derr Biggers' famous romantic mystery, was filmed and recorded in the heart of San Francisco's Chinatown. Irving Cummings directed. Warner Baxter, Lois Moran and Gilbert Emery are featured. It is showing at the Coliseum Theatre.
